

tent that the state has been the first to ratify, in spirit, if not in actual and final form. Tomorrow morning there may be word from the national capital that will require that the proceedings in Springfield be postponed. In the house, the resolution was introduced by Representative Hoyt. It was called up without question, and put to a viva voce vote, and declared adopted by Speaker Shanahan before Mrs. Jacob Baur, at the head of a gallery filled delegation of women, could get out the flag that was to be the signal for a demonstration. In the senate, Senator Barr moved concurrence in the house action.

Action in Wisconsin.
Madison, Wis., June 10.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin legislature officially ratified the federal women's suffrage amendment. The final vote on the amendment in the house was 44 to 2. The vote in the senate was 24 to 1.

When both houses of the legislature convened at 10:30 Secretary of State Hall certified officially the amendment as it had been received from Washington. Immediately Assemblyman T. S. Nolan introduced a resolution of ratification in the house and Senator George B. Skogmo of River Falls introduced a separate ratification resolution in the senate. Owing to a parliamentary tangle in the senate the assembly resolution obtained the right of way and was ratified.

Opposed by Donnelly.
Assemblyman John S. Donnelly opposed the immediate ratification of the suffrage amendment in the house. He said that the resolution should be referred to a vote of the people in the election in 1920 and offered an amendment to that effect. Donnelly's amendment was defeated by a vote of 48 to 8.

Donnelly opposed the immediate suspension of the rules for the consideration of the resolution, but was outvoted and the resolution was finally concurred in.

Nolan's resolution reached the senate at 11:35 and all other business was laid aside and confirmation was had at 11:42.

Passed in Michigan.
Lansing, Mich., June 10.—[Special.]—By unanimous vote the Michigan legislature ratified the Susan B. Anthony amendment to the federal constitution this afternoon. Separate resolutions were passed by both the house and senate, as each branch of the general assembly was anxious to claim the honor of fathering the resolution ratifying the suffrage amendment.

In order to avoid delay, however, the house accepted the senate resolution. (By) Speaker in a special message to the legislature urged immediate action on the resolution.

Speeds Up New York.
Albany, N. Y., June 10.—An extraordinary session of the New York legislature for Monday night, June 14, was called by Gov. Smith in a proclamation issued late today. The purpose is to act upon ratification of the woman's suffrage constitutional amendment.

ENVOY REPORTS HATE CAMPAIGN TO ANGER POLES

Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—Propaganda in Poland and elsewhere in eastern Europe designed to show that the United States favors the Jew, as against the Pole has caused resentment and distrust. That statement was made in a report from American Minister Gibson at Warsaw to the house foreign affairs committee today. Chairman Porter blamed German sources of news.

The Gibson report, laid before the committee by Assistant Secretary of State Phillips, declared that stories of Jewish massacres had been greatly exaggerated.

Pending more detailed information from American representatives in Poland, the committee, which is considering a joint resolution regarding alleged pogroms, decided not to hear Jewish and Polish delegations.

That there have been Jewish pogroms in Poland was denied today by R. L. Piotrowski of Chicago before the committee. He said that in certain localities the starving population attacked storehouses where speculators hoarded food supplies. Bread riots resulted, but no pogroms, he declared.

Wounded, Sent to Fort, Put Crepe on Hospital

There was crepe on the door of the military hospital at Forty-seventh street and Drexel boulevard; crepe blowing disconsolately in the breeze; crepe and a bouquet of sad white flowers.

"Another hero gone to his rest," said a woman visitor. "Who was he?"

"Yes," said a nurse, "he's gone to rest out at Fort Sheridan, and he and a bunch of other wounded boys. They moved the boys from one hospital to another. The soldiers hated to leave."

HOUSE VOTES $750,000,000 TO RAILROADS

Politics Creeps Out in Ballot on Increasing Revolving Fund.

Washington, D. C., June 10.—By a vote of 205 to 4 the house today passed the bill authorizing an appropriation of $750,000,000 for the railroad administration's revolving fund. Democratic members urged a larger amount, but did not press it, while Republicans declared the fund would be sufficient until later in the year, when future needs would be known. The measure now goes to the senate, where leaders plan early action.

Votes against the appropriation were cast by Representatives Anthony Kansas; Ramseyer, Iowa; Woodyard, West Virginia; Republicans, and Thomas, Kentucky, Democrat. None of them urged his objections to the bill during the debate, which was marked by considerable political discussion.

Cuts Hines' Figure.
Chairman Good, in charge of the bill, explained that reduction from the $1,200,000,000 requested by Director General Hines was decided on by the appropriations committee because it was admitted that exact needs of the future were problematical. The new fund, he said, would make a total of $1,250,000,000 granted the administration since the rail lines were taken over by the government.

Representative Byrnes, South Carolina, and Byrnes, Tennessee, Democrats, declared a larger appropriation was necessary to make prompt monthly payments, the delay in which, they said, would adversely affect business conditions. They also asserted the smaller amount would increase interest charges on railroad indebtedness.

Politics Creeps In.
Political debate was started in the house when Representative Magee, Republican, New York, declared the loss from railroad operation was "continuing to increase" and blamed this on "the Democratic policy of drifting instead of acting." The railroad administration, having increased wages, he said, should have the "moral courage" to make compensatory freight and passenger rates. Representative Walsh, Republican, of Massachusetts, added that "many wages are excessive, and that the public treasury we should not hesitate to revise or reduce wages."

Resenting frequent Republican reference to the president's absence from the United States, Representative Hardy, Democrat, Texas, said that the "Republican damned everything Woodrow Wilson does" and that "no crime is not laid to the league of nations, but nevertheless the Republicans don't care to come in open opposition to it."

to ask ample time for consideration of so complex and radical a departure from established policies.

Easy to Meet Request.
"It would not be difficult to insert in the treaty a provision to accomplish what I propose; it could be done in three lines which would declare that any nation has the right to reserve without prejudice to itself the question of the league of nations for future separate and full consideration."

Demands Careful Consideration.
"The purpose of my resolution," said Senator Knox, "is to acquire for the people of the United States opportunity to consider and pass upon the league of nations provisions after having been placed in possession of all information respecting those provisions. So far as the public is concerned, this feature of the treaty has been discussed very little except in the way of propaganda."

SHERMAN SLAMS LEAGUE IDEA AND COLLEGE WISDOM

U. of I. Letter Leads to Talk of "Half Baked" Student Views.

Champaign, Ill., June 10.—Dean Baintline of the faculty of the University of Illinois recently wrote Senator L. V. Sherman urging the senator to support the league of nations, saying it was his opinion that "the sentiment of the faculty and students of the university is practically unanimous in demanding the ratification of this covenant and that nothing will arouse our indignation more than the failure of the senate, and particularly our representatives therein, to do their best to secure such ratification."

In answer to the communication the senator defended his course in the senate and said with reference to the covenant that he had "come to the unalterable conclusion that it is a menace to the United States government and American people" and otherwise supported his stand.

Fears Papal Dominance.
"I shall not vote even at the risk of arousing additional indignation among the students and faculty of your institution to make our government and our country subject to such a league," he added. "Of the white Christian races remaining, a majority will be dominated by the papal influence of the Vatican. The league of nations is reactionary, subversive of free institutions and tends to return us to the level of the dark ages."

Half Baked View of Students.
In conclusion the senator said: "This letter is not private. I shall return to Illinois to defend my vote and conduct. You say you have been distressed by my conduct; I can say in return that the conduct of certain of the faculty and of the heedless, half-baked views of students in your institution has been a matter of profound regret to me. If the state of Illinois cannot produce better results, the taxpayers have carried the burden in vain and learning has but demonstrated its uselessness in the affairs of men."

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Washington Bureau of The Tribune.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10.—AFTER studying the complete text of the peace treaty furnished the senate by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the leaders of the opposition to hasty action on the league of nations plan declared the covenant separable from the treaty proper and drew up a program of action proposing to ratify the terms of peace without delay and postpone action on the president's peace plan to afford time for mature deliberation and possibly a national referendum. As the first move Senator Knox offered a resolution requesting the peace conference to submit the treaty in a form permitting reservation of action on the covenant and serving notice that if this suggestion is not observed the covenant will be separated from the treaty in the senate.

Mexico, according to reliable reports here today, is so humiliated over being omitted from membership to the league of nations that President Carranza is seeking to pry his way in and this is said to be the principal object of the mission to Washington of Gen. Aguirre.

CARRANZA's son-in-law and governor of Vera Cruz is also going to Paris to see President Poincaré on the subject.

INCREASED railroad rates will be necessary after the roads are returned to their owners, Representative Good, chairman of the house appropriations committee, told the house today. The bill appropriating $750,000,000 for the railroad administration was passed with practically no opposition.

UNLESS congress provides protection either by an import license system or duties, spokesmen for domestic potato producers declared before the house ways and means committee that their industry would be destroyed. Between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000 was invested in the industry during the war.

REPORTS received here from Japan say that Viscount Ishii, ambassador to the United States, who is going home on leave, will never return; that he proposes to resign when he reaches Japan, and that Viscount Uchida, Japanese foreign minister, is likely to be sent to the United States to succeed him.

AMERICAN government officials, it is reported, recognize Gen. Irias, Nicaraguan exile in Costa Rica as a real menace to Nicaraguan peace.

ACCORDING to a report made to the naval intelligence service by one of its investigators more than 8,000 delegates of the I. W. W., bearing credentials from Chicago headquarters of the organization, are at work all over the eastern part of the United States enrolling new members and agitating revolt against law and order.

BULLETIN.
PARIS, June 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—There is little hope that the allied reply to the German counter proposals will be ready before the end of the week. It will consist of a short reply in general terms covering all the German proposals. Then will follow answers prepared by various commissions showing the reasons why the allies cannot grant specific requests.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[By Special Cable.]
PARIS, June 10.—It was expected the big four would complete their draft of a new agreement today as only three subjects remain open. All the other subjects were disposed of. After the big four settles the three questions that reply goes to the international drafting board to be placed in all right language. It is expected to be ready tomorrow morning at the latest, even if the internationalists work all night. Then the reply will be presented to the Germans immediately with a requirement that Germany accept or reject within a specified time.

France favors forty-eight hours, the United States four days, Great Britain a week.
Berlin Cabinet to Fall.
The overthrow of the present German cabinet is expected within twenty-four hours with the moderate Socialists winning ample representation. It is expected the new cabinet either will instruct Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau to sign immediately or replace him with Erzberger or some one else. It is definitely decided Germany may not be permitted to request a further change. The changes which will be made in the league of nations covenant following the demand embraced in Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's counter proposals will not be nearly so drastic as believed.

The principal concession made is that the Germans will get a hearing and have representation indirectly upon the subcommittee on any question affecting Germany that may arise for the league's consideration before Germany becomes a member nation. Premier Clemenceau was bitterly opposed to the scheme, but Prime Minister Lloyd George supported it, and President Wilson decided it was only justice to Germany.

Decides German Reparation.
PARIS, June 10.—(By Havas.)—As a result of the deliberations of the council of four today an agreement was reached on the amount of indemnity Germany will be asked to pay. The council examined reports and recommendations by special commissions which have been studying different phases of the German counter proposals, considerable progress being made during the day's session.

Dr. Karl Kramarz, premier of Czechoslovakia, and M. Bratiano, prime minister of Roumania, will be heard tomorrow during the consideration of the frontiers of Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Germany.
The council also will discuss the proposed admission of Germany into the league of nations. Premier Clemenceau is expected to defend the French viewpoint which is opposed to the immediate admission of Germany. It is understood that the allied reply to the German counter proposals will admit of no further discussions.

Signed Peace by Aug. 1.
The signing of the peace treaty by Germany before July 1 and its ratification by the various parliaments before Aug. 1 is predicted today by the Echo de Paris. It expects the answer to the German counter proposals to be handed over probably on Friday. The course of the Germans, it thinks, will be to replace the Scheidemann government by another in case the present government determines not to sign the terms as the allies finally present them.

The plan for reparations which now is proposed in the council of four, according to Marcel Huxin of the Echo de Paris, consists, first, in selling German liquid assets to the value of 25,000,000 francs; second, to the margin of two years so that an accurate idea of the economic and financial situation in Germany may be gained; third, after two years to exact

Allied Radicals Hear German Plea on Colonies

GENEVA, June 10.—The Gazette of Lausanne states that James Ramsay MacDonald, chairman of the British Labor party, and Jean Longuet, French Socialist deputy, recently had several long interviews with Dr. W. S. Solf, former colonial secretary of Germany at Pribourg, Switzerland. The article states that Dr. Solf made a plea that German colonies should be returned to Germany and declares that "it fell on willing ears."

COURTS MARTIAL ARE PICTURED AS DISCIPLINE AID

Col. McCormick Tells How Foe Punished Reckless Yanks.

Punishment by courts martial for breach of discipline is much to be preferred to the more severe measures of the enemy, Col. Robert R. McCormick told the American Bar association committee yesterday at the federal building on the second day of the trial of "military versus civil justice."

He recited instances in his command on the fighting front in which disobedience of orders by American soldiers resulted in the death penalty being inflicted by the foe. "Orders had been issued," he said, "that the men should not show themselves in groups of more than three, should not light matches in the trenches, and should do nothing to attract the fire of the Germans. One day I saw a group of men violate these orders. They had hardly stepped into the open when the German fire found them, killing five and wounding three."

For Firm Discipline.
If changes in the courts martial are made, discipline should not be weakened, the colonel declared. He disapproved having the punitive powers taken from division commanders and placed within the province of judges advocate.

"If the soldier knows the commander has the sole power of punishment, he will not be as likely to violate rules and regulations as he would be were a judge advocate to possess that power," said Col. McCormick.

"As it was, our soldiers in France exposed themselves recklessly, due to ignorance, lack of training, and untrained officers."
Scouting planes reported from five to ten times as many American soldiers visible from the sky as British and French, and as a result our casualties were two to four times as heavy as they should have been."

Beckwith Backs Colonel.
Capt. John W. Beckwith supported Col. McCormick's recommendation to the committee that the courts martial have regular trial sessions and the prisoners skilled defenders. He suggested reputable attorneys be appointed to conduct the defense and be given rank equal with the prosecutors.

The chairman of the council conducting the inquiry is Eugene C. Gregory of Chicago.

Col. Eugene R. West, chief of the legislative section of the judge advocate general's department, while agreeing with Chairman Gregory that it was only consistent with the Anglo-Saxon attitude on the Cavell case to except women from the death penalty, said he believed a woman spy should be given the same penalty as a man spy.

"Otherwise the gates would be thrown open to the most resourceful class of spies that is known," he stated.

Britain Rejects Self-Rule Plea for South Africa

LONDON, June 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Great Britain cannot take any action which would mean the disruption of the Union of South Africa. This, in effect, was the answer given to the deputation of the Nationalist party of South Africa by Premier Lloyd George in Paris on June 5.

The chief object of the mission was to obtain restitution of the national status of the South African republics existing before the Boer war.

LITHUANIANS CABLE WILSON FOR RECOGNITION

A cable of greeting and respect to President Wilson, coupled with the suggestion he examine carefully the claims of Lithuania to independence; a message of greeting and encouragement to the president of the provisional government of Lithuania; and another to the Lithuanian delegation to the peace conference, were sent yesterday by the Lithuanian National convention.

In addition a petition to the American people, reciting Lithuania's claims and the sympathy of Americans of Lithuanian descent with the Lithuanian cause was adopted, together with a resolution favoring establishment of a body to promote commercial relations between the United States and Lithuania.

The petition further recites Lithuania's independence will prove a bulwark against bolshevism and religious and racial hatreds, and asks the president, the secretary of state and congress that official recognition of Lithuania be afforded and urged upon representatives of the allied governments.

Martial Law Over Havana to Halt Labor Troubles

HAVANA, June 10.—A decree suspending the constitutional guarantees was sent to the palace tonight by President Menocal. The exact reasons which impelled the executive to take this step are not known, but the generally accepted explanation is the desire of the authorities to capture certain labor agitators.

Two ringleaders in labor disturbances here, who are declared to have been working to establish a soviet government in Cuba, have evaded arrest. Rumor has hinted they are hidden in the homes of men whose properties, because of the position in public life, cannot be entered while constitutional guarantees remain in force.

CARRANZA SENDS TO OBTAIN SEAT IN WORLD LEAGUE

Son-in-Law in Washington on Way to Paris.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—Mexico, keptly humiliated because she has been ignored and left out of the league of nations, is seeking to get into the league, according to reports in official quarters here today. Gen. Carranza, son-in-law of President Carranza and governor of the state of Vera Cruz, is now in Washington en route to Paris to present Mexico's claims for league membership.

Gen. Aguirre, whose mission here has been very mysterious, conferred at the state department today with Acting Secretary of State Polk and American Ambassador Fletcher, who was summoned from Mexico several months ago to assist Mr. Polk in departmental work.

Exodus from Juarez.
El Paso, Tex., June 10.—At 1 o'clock this morning all was quiet in Juarez, across the international line here, although some of Gen. Aguirre's forces were reported ten miles southeast of Juarez. There was a heavy exodus of Mexican residents from Juarez into El Paso up to 11 o'clock last night, including several Carranza officials.

War on Yaquis Begun.
Nogales, Ariz., June 10.—Gen. P. Elias Calles, formerly military governor of Sonora, Mexico, and two months ago appointed secretary of commerce and industry in the Carranza cabinet, has returned from Mexico City and will take the field in Sonora with 1,500 picked troops in an effort to crush the Yaquis and other bandit bands which have been plundering and murdering promiscuously for the last two weeks.

LAST AMERICAN TROOPS TO QUIT RUSSIA SUNDAY

ARCHANGEL, June 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—The last units of American troops on the fighting front south of Archangel, except engineers, were withdrawn today and will sail for home next Sunday. They include the remaining companies of the 339th Infantry, the 337th ambulance company and a medical detachment.

The tentative sailing date for the last homecoming contingent, which is the 310th engineers, is July 1.

Eagle boats No. 2 and No. 3 joined the American naval forces at Archangel today.

Toledo, O., June 10.—In the arrest here today of Paul Grottker, 42 years old, police claim to have apprehended a man suspected of knowing something concerning the bombing of homes of government and city officials in Washington, New York, Cleveland, and other cities a week ago.

HOUSE MEMBER CABLES WILSON TO STOP DRY ERA

Dyer Wants President's Advice Immediately to Prepare Laws.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—Representative Dyer of Missouri, Republican, by cable today requested President Wilson to issue a proclamation declaring the war ended and demobilization completed to prevent wartime prohibition from going into effect, so far as it pertains to beer and light wines.

In his cable Mr. Dyer asked the president: "An immediate statement as to his intentions in this respect, on the ground that the people of the United States are entitled to know at the earliest moment possible whether wartime prohibition is to become effective."

The cable, in part, says: "The judiciary committee of the house of representatives, of which I am a member, has been considering bills to carry out your recommendation to repeal the recent act of congress providing for prohibition July 1, so as to except beer and light wines. The matter has developed far enough in our committee for me to be able to state definitely that there is no opportunity in our committee to obtain favorable report on such a bill."

"I feel therefore that you should exercise the authority which I am sure you possess to issue a proclamation to the effect that the war is ended and that demobilization of troops has been completed with sufficiently to meet the law and therefore there is no need for the wartime prohibition so far as it affects light wines and beer to go into effect."

Thanks for Paris Edition, for Raising Decoration Fund

RAIL MEN CHEER PLAN FOR NATION TO OWN ROADS

General Counsel Says 10,- 000,000 Persons Favor
Federal Possession.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 10.—[Special.]—Glenn E. Plumb, general counsel for the thirteen railroad employer organizations, in an address today at the second day's meeting of the thirty-ninth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor explained the plan of government ownership of the railroads as set forth by the railroad brotherhoods. His declaration that the plan calls for immediate acquisition of all the railroad properties by the government was received with great applause.

In closing Mr. Plumb said that the plan has been endorsed by 2,000,000 railroad employees and by a great many other people. He estimated the total at 10,000,000.

Indorsed by 750,000 Farmers.

While no canvas has been made of the individual farmers, he asserted that 750,000 of them had given their approval to the plan through the officers of the Nonpartisan league alone.

Counting three votes for every railroad man, he continued, the total would come up to 10,000,000 people in favor of government ownership.

"With ten million voices raised to reconstruct an industry in this or in any other country it means absolute control, and it rests in your hands," Mr. Plumb continued.

The most enthusiastic applause that has yet marked the proceedings followed his words and the delegates jumped to their feet in the demonstration. On the suggestion of Mabel Emery of Minneapolis Mr. Plumb was accorded the thanks of the convention for his address.

Plan of Government Ownership.

Mr. Plumb explained that the proposition of government ownership rested fundamentally on a recognition of human rights. The plan, he asserted, gives to the worker and to the public each an equal voice in the authority and responsibility in the situation. He maintained that the railroad issue was a national issue, and not a local question, for the products of the farms and workshops must pass over the highways to reach the consumer.

Mr. Plumb explained that the proposition requires the operation of the roads by a single corporation which

PAWNE PISTOL IS MAIN FACTOR IN MURDER CASE

Jerseyville, Ill., June 10.—[Special.]
—The preliminary hearing of Dr. Horace A. Reddish, charged with the murder of his father, Stephen M. Reddish, wealthy retired farmer and banker, was begun here this morning. The hearing is to determine whether the evidence is sufficient to hold Dr. Reddish for the September grand jury.

Stephen M. Reddish and a Negro domestic were found shot to death in the Reddish home here April 30.

State's Attorney Hamilton expects to establish that the physician's motive was to secure part of his father's estate. Attorneys for Dr. Reddish will try to establish an alibi. The physician has asserted he was in St. Louis on the night of the murder.

Private detectives employed by the Jersey State bank, of which the elder Reddish was a stockholder, reported that a revolver pawned in St. Louis the day before the discovery of the murder was owned by Dr. Reddish. It was of the same caliber as the bullets used in the double murder. This led to the arrest.

The first witness called for the state was August F. Ratz, proprietor of the Mineral Springs Hotel in Alton. He testified that Dr. Reddish stayed at the hotel two days after the finding of the bodies. He said the hotel maid found two pawn tickets in Reddish's room. He turned the tickets over to the Alton police and the next day Dr.
Reddish offered a reward for the finding of the "two pieces of paper."

KUN TO PLEAD FOR HUNGARY BEFORE ALLIES

GENEVA, June 10.—Bela Kun, according to an Innsbruck dispatch, accepts the allied invitation to visit Paris,
"in order to explain conditions in Hungary."

The dispatch adds that he will appoint a delegation which he probably will head.

Violent fighting, it is reported, continues between the Hungarians and Czecho-Slovaks, on the Save river.

Agrees to Peace.

LONDON, June 10.—Bela Kun, Hungarian communist foreign minister, in reply to a message from Premier Clemenceau, according to a wireless dispatch from Budapest, agrees to stop hostilities with the Czecho-Slovaks, although he charges the Czechs are to blame for the fighting. He says they disregarded the frontier fixed by the allies.

Says Slavs Attacked.

"We note with satisfaction," says
Bela Kun, "that the allies instructed Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rou-mania, to cease their attacks against us, but we must record that the above mentioned states disobeyed the allies' orders and that their offensive has been stopped by our counter offensive and that their troops are still beyond the demarcation line fixed by the convention of Nov. 13."

ITALIANS CIRCLE FIUME WITH WIRE ENTANGLEMENTS

Flower of Army in Contested Port Maintains Rome Rule.

BY THOMAS STEWART RYAN.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)
(Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.)
FIRST ARTICLE.

FIUME, June 4, by Courier to Paris, June 10.—Four days ago I stepped ashore in the city of Fiume, whose destiny hung long in the balance in Paris. What I saw was a city of 50,000, of Latin aspect, lying quiescent under the Italian sun and the guns of Italian warships, patrolled by Italian carabinieri, stunning Italian women flaunting Italian green, white, and red placards announcing flamboyantly: "Viva Italia! Viva Fiume Italiana!"

Surprises came thick and fast. We think of Fiume as nearly equally divided among the races. But in Fiume itself the Croat dialect seldom is heard. This, the supreme fact in support of the Italian cause, is countered at once by another which militates against his claims. Theoretically, Fiume is occupied by an interallied force. Actually, the horizon blue of the French and the British khaki figure but little. Here Italy poured in the flower of her youth. And I was amazed at the splendid physique and veteran bearing of the Fiume garrison. We have here the audacious bersagliers with cock feathers afloat in the breezes, the Alpini, with the artillery and colonial troops in their red tunics, and stalking through the gay evening streets like ghosts at a feast are the carabinieri.

20,000 Italian Troops.

What is the strength of the Italian force? The allied officers agree a conservative estimate for the Fiume district is 20,000, while the British have only one battalion of Yorks and Lancasters and the French a battalion of infantry and one of Annamites. We are represented by the destroyer Schley. In the harbor is the Italian dreadnaught Dante Alighieri, two Italian battleships, and three destroyers.

Here is the fact to consider in connection with the present regime in Fiume: The command is Italian, since Gen. Grazioli is the senior allied officer. He occupies the governor's palace. His carabinieri form the most of the police force, and he has been able by virtue of his command to throw his own troops into the city suburbs and surrounding countryside, where they have built barbed wire entanglements.

Formation of Government.

New Italy is an interested party in the Fiume question. The present government consiglio nazionale is composed of Italian partisans and came into power when the Italian troops marched in. Two facts, then, stand out: a neglected pro-Italian council forming the local government and the Italian army of occupation.

If Fiume were cleared of Italian troops and the small garrison of British and French were left behind, the first vote would be divided between independence, Italian annexation, and Jugo-Slavianism, with independence leading a little, and the second vote, held when both nationalists had despaired of victory, would result in a landslide for an independent Fiume.

In the city proper comprising the port and business section, the Italian party is strong. It numbers middle class officials speaking Italian and a strong, turbulent element—the Giovani Fiumati, who have gained notoriety by smearing the Slav shop signs with black paint, by hanging up posters insulting Wilson and the allies.

But the districts of Fiume extend about four miles into the hinterland and the outlying quarters are indisputably Slav.

Then There is Susak.

Add to this Susak. That Slav town of some 5,000 people is separated from Fiume by a narrow canal in which two sloops can just pass. Back of its quays are lumber sheds and railroad yards with trucks leading into Fiume. Now these quays are a convenient, if not an essential addition to the Fiume port, but, if they were included, it seems only fair the householders of Susak should vote on their disposition. Many of these householders have business in Fiume and trade in the Fiume market, returning at night to the flats and villas of Susak, which is a comparatively new town.

Such an inclusion should counterbalance the Italian element in Fiume. There are Other "Isms."

But besides the two national parties there are autonomists and Socialists who would have none of either Italy or Jugo-Slavia. The autonomists are bourgeois of the older generation who fear economic ruin if Italy gains possession. They claim about 2,000 electors, all speaking Italian. If Italy comes in, they look forward to a closed Jugo-Slav frontier, a share in the burden of Italy's war debt and secondary position to Trieste. Rather than be annexed to Italy they prefer Jugo-Slavia, but they think that country too young to hold a port like Fiume. They want to be autonomous under American or British protection.

The Socialists are stronger. They claim 8,000 persons of voting age, including working women, but they have doubtless little less. They still belong to the Hungarian Socialist party and receive their orders from that source. They eschew autonomists as bourgeois.

A SOUVENIR OF THE PAST

An old tree trunk, witness to the stirring events of Chicago's early days, when Fort Dearborn stood on the south side of the river, was unearthed yesterday in front of 342 North Michigan avenue.

Excavators working on the boulevard link improvement encountered the trunk with their shovels about five feet below the present level of the street. It is three feet in height and its location is given as "fifty feet south of the southern wall of old Fort Dearborn."

"What is known as a bench mark—or civil engineers' level sign—was found on the west side of the trunk, at the junction of the roots," said Ben C. Rich, construction engineer for the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company. "The trunk apparently is of great age."

It will be presented to the Chicago Historical society.

geologists. Nevertheless their political aims are somewhat the same. They want no foreign protection. Protection, says their leader, Dr. Samuel Maylander, a Hungarian Jew, is equivalent to annexation. They hope for a little republic where no one of the powers could excite jealousy by special privileges. The Croats, they hold, are a race of fewer advantages than the Hungarians and Italians. Therefore they are against them. But they are also against Italy whose party they say is stronger than the Slav in Fiume proper.

Once 20,000 Tolders in Fiume. Dr. Maylander maintains there were once 20,000 laborers in Fiume. Only a small part of these, however, had a Fiume franchise, which was easy for the Magyars to obtain but could be refused point blank to foreigners, however long they might live in Fiume. It follows the Socialist strength depends on a revision of Fiume citizenship.

"We don't want a plebiscite yet," Dr. Maylander said, who meets every day at the headquarters of the party in power can gain adherents by offers of food and work, for some 4,000 former laborers have lost their employment here mainly through the dearth of coal and iron. We might have to wait a year for normal times and proper campaign by various parties. Now the allied command forbids us to agitate. Yes, we should be willing to have a regiment of Americans or British as guards, but afterward no protection.

"If we don't get what we want we will do nothing for a while. Revolution," he added with fierce gesture, "will settle such problems everywhere in the future."

A third continuance was granted yesterday in the case of Courtney B. Schwepp, brother of Charles B. Schwepp, the broker, accused by Miss Helen Killian, maid at the Virginia hotel, of abducting her. The case was the victim of an attempt at extortion. The next hearing is set for June 19.

ITALY RENEWS AMITY TOWARD THINGS AMERICAN

Recovers from Wilson's Note on Fiume; Clings to Old Hopes.

BY ARTHUR E. MANN.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

(Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.)

ROME, June 7.—[Via Paris, June 10.]—The Italian peace delegation will accept the plan for an Adriatic settlement being discussed at Paris, according to information given me here. The Italian nation will do likewise. But such a compromise settlement will be for them "like taking a bitter medicine," repeating the words of my informant here. It will not be a settlement which will satisfy the Italian nation, but it will agree in order, so they tell me, to please the American president—even in order to please President Wilson.

But it must not be supposed Italy has given up her hope and expectation of realizing in full its Adriatic claims. There is little doubt but that once peace is signed and the world begins to return to a more established order Italy will raise the issue through the mechanism provided by the league of nations. However, although the country will accept the terms brought to Rome by the Italian commission, Premier Orlando's strongest supporters say the government will fail.

Goal in Italy, Two.

Someone will have to be the goat and in this case it will be the group of men who have been forced by circumstances too strong for them to accept the peace settlement to which the country will agree only under protest.

And in this connection it is interesting to note that the belief has been growing in Italy for some time that the allies feel because the war has been won it is immaterial whether or not they have the friendship and full support of Italy. This belief is greatly strengthened by the supplementary proposal to the peace treaty, the Anglo-French-American agreement to go to the aid of France in event France suffers a future unprovoked attack from Germany.

Hostile to Allies.

There is little doubt at present that there is plenty of hostile feeling in Italy—but not altogether directed against the late central powers. A good part is concentrated on the allied countries, it is asserted here. France, I am told, should be moved only by a feeling of the profoundest gratitude and appreciation of Italy's part in the war, which has not attained Italian expectations. England likewise is criticized.

It is an interesting fact the feeling against America daily is growing less. From thinking people much of the criticism of President Wilson now is that he was willing to sign the Fiume proclamation alone, when the Italians believe he was only one of three parties opposing the Italian claims.

Captured German Seamen to Be Returned by U. S.

SPIES OF I. W. W. NEST HERE, SAYS NAVY OFFICIAL

U. of C. Graduate One of Thousands Sent in Propaganda.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 10.—[Special.]—More than 8,000 delegates of the I. W. W., armed with credentials from Chicago headquarters of the organization, are and have been for some time enrolling new members throughout the east, according to statements contained in a report prepared by Lieut. Commander Van Amherst of the naval intelligence service.

The report, resulting from independent investigation carried on by Lieut. Commander Van Amherst, was filed nearly five months ago, but received no attention until within the last week or two. Accuracy of the statements contained in the report is attested by the fact that officials of the department of justice when shown a copy verified every statement of the naval officer as to the character and record of each individual named in the document.

Chicago Issues Credentials.

The naval intelligence bureau recently became active in investigating I. W. W. bolshevik propaganda and now has a large force of operatives in the field, more than fifteen being assigned to work in Chicago industrial plants.

Referring to I. W. W. bolshevik proselyting Lieut. Commander Van Amherst said in his report: "The I. W. W. has been particularly active of late and is making every effort to gain recruits. General headquarters of I. W. W. in Chicago are now issuing credentials to 'delegates' who will organize on commission. These delegates receive no salary; they work solely on commission. Besides the delegates there are what is known as 'job hunters.' These visit different cities and locate places where large operations are in progress, reporting to headquarters when delegates are sent to organize."

Received by Bolshevists.

"The I. W. W. as individuals are supporting the bolshevik movement. They are received in bolshevik conventions and gatherings the same as delegates regularly elected by their respective units, and are finding their way to important committees of the socialist party."

Reporters received of socialist activity clearly indicate that the transition of Socialist party branches from political Socialists to radical industrialists is proceeding rapidly. The industrialists are taking hold of the local heads of the Socialist branches, and indications clearly point to the radical element using the Socialist party branches as recruiting grounds for the radical circles."

Chicago "U" Graduate in List.

Propaganda activities of the bolsheviks in the east, according to the report, are shown in the fact that numbers of lecturers had been arriving in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, New York and Boston from I. W. W. headquarters in Chicago and from the Pacific northwest. One of these, a Russian Jewess, graduated from Chicago university and a cultured and polished speaker, according to the report, spoke at bolshevik meetings in Boston, Providence, Fall River, New Bedford, Taunton, Bridgeport, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and other eastern cities.

The report, quoting from Nova Mira, the Russian radical newspaper published in Chicago, says that a census taken late last year by that paper showed more than 600,000 avowed bolsheviks in the United States, with more than 200,000 others classed as "active sympathizers."

At the Washington office of the naval intelligence service no information of any kind could be obtained.

YANKS BRIDGE RHINE IN RECORD OF 41 MINUTES

COBLENZ, June 10.—A pontoon bridge 1,450 feet long was thrown across the Rhine in 41 minutes this morning at Honningen by the 1st engineers. This is better than four times as fast as the Germans ever did it. Incidentally this beats the record of 55½ minutes established by the 2d engineers a week ago. The morale of the 3d is lower today, for the 1st took from them not only the laurels of bridging the Rhine in the best time but 150,000 marks in addition.

'TRIBUNE' TREATY SCOOP BUT ONE OF HISTORIC SERIES

Laconia Sinking, Manila
Victory, Lorimer Case,
Others Recalled.

The Tribune's achievement in obtaining for the United States senate a complete copy of the peace treaty, which had been sought by senators in vain from official sources, and in giving vital and hitherto unpublished extracts of the treaty to its readers, recalls a series of exclusive stories of history making character published in this paper over a long series of years.

Among these "scoops," belonging to the history of American journalism, are the announcement of Dewey's victory in the battle of Manila, the United States Supreme court income tax decision in 1895, the Lorimer scandal case, the printing first in America of the revised text of the New Testament, the complete story of the sinking of the Laconia, a long ago scoop on the capture of Island No. 10 in the Mississippi river by Commodore Foote and Gen. Pope in the second year of the civil war—and last, but not least, the text of the peace treaty.

The Scoop That Counted.

The story of the peace treaty scoop has already demonstrated its importance through the action of the United States senate in approving this Tribune's copy of the document upon the Congressional record, and by the recognition given it by other newspapers throughout the country.

While senators were pleading with President Wilson and others for the full text of the conditions of peace, a Tribune correspondent, Fraser Hunt, reached Paris on his way back from Russia.

There, from a legitimate but confidential source, he obtained a copy of the treaty. With the document he hastened to New York and on June 8, and in Chicago June 7.

After a conference in the Tribune office, it was determined that the patriotic thing to do was to turn the text of the treaty over at once to the foreign relations committee of the senate. Mr. Hunt hurried back to Washington and on Sunday afternoon put the document in the hands of the members of that committee. After that, Mr. Hunt sent a dispatch to THE TRIBUNE office, giving verbatim the most mooted points in the treaty. This dispatch, comprising 27,000 words, was printed in THE TRIBUNE Monday morning.

Again, the First News.

A similar combination—the right man at the right place at the right time—allowed THE TRIBUNE to print, in February, 1917, another of the most sensational exclusive news stories of the great war, the sinking of the liner Laconia.

Floyd Gibbons, a member of THE TRIBUNE staff, was a passenger aboard the liner on the way to Europe as a war correspondent. His story of the torpedoing of the great steamship is still fresh in the minds of hundreds of thousands of Americans who were thrilled by it at that time, when the sinking of ships loaded with men, women, and children was becoming a daily tragedy.

After floating for hours in a crowded open boat in a winter sea, Gibbons was picked up by another vessel.

Once on the shore of Ireland, as the

YOUTHFUL MAJOR, HERO OF AIR, TO BE HOME SOON

Among the units of the A. E. F. returning in June is the 9th aero squadron, commanded by Maj. Willis A. Diekmann, advertising manager for the De Pree Chemical company of Chicago. He wears the distinguished service cross and returns to his desk at the age of 26, being one of the youngest officers in the air service to attain his rank.

Enlisting immediately after the war broke out, Maj. Diekmann had his early training in flying at Champaign, Ill., and Dayton, O. He sailed for France in October, 1917, with rank of first lieutenant. When awarded the D. S. C. his citation set forth that he was "a member of a number of enemy aircraft, while on a photographic mission. Disregarding the fact that his companion planes had been driven off, Maj. Diekmann (then lieutenant) continued his flight until his observer had completed the photographs. On their return they fought their way through the enemy patrol and destroyed one of the German machines. This engagement took place in the region of Metz, Sept. 16, 1918.

Maj. Diekmann is the son of former Representative G. J. Diekmann of Holland, Mich.

first trained newspaper man to undergo such an experience, Gibbons wrote a story which brought to the readers of THE TRIBUNE and to the world a realization of the shock and terror, the pain and heroism, the suffering and sacrifice, the fear, the hope, and at last the joy of rescue which had been felt by thousands in similar circumstances, but had never before been brought close to the millions of Americans safe at home. That story was published exclusively in THE TRIBUNE.

Frederick A. Smith's Feat.

One of the outstanding news beats of the great war also was the feat of Frederick A. Smith. This Tribune's correspondent with the armies in France after the wounding of Floyd Gibbons, in being the first American newspaper man to reach Berlin after the signing of the armistice. In order to achieve this and give to the world the first authentic information of conditions in the German capital Mr. Smith induced a Richthofen circus flyer of the German aviation service to fly with him from Frankfurt to Berlin. More than 360 miles of the journey into Berlin was through the air. Smith was the first newspaper man to connect up the outside world with Berlin after the fighting ceased.

The Lorimer Case.

A little further back in the series of notable "scoops" obtained and published by THE TRIBUNE, the Lorimer case stands out boldly.

On April 30, 1910, less than a year after the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate by a combination of Republican and Democratic votes, this newspaper printed exclusively the startling confession of Representative Charles A. White. This confession led ultimately to the expulsion of Lorimer from the United States senate.

In the history of the country no newspaper achievement probably ever has caused a greater sensation or marked greater journalistic enterprise than the exposure of the Lorimer case. May 7, 1919, in giving to the world the first news of Admiral Dewey's victory over the Spanish fleet at the battle of Manila.

Mr. Harden Delivers.

Edward W. Harden, a member of THE TRIBUNE staff, was in Hongkong in April of that year. He proceeded, as a civilian correspondent, with Admiral Dewey to Manila. It will be remembered that Dewey had cut the cables at Manila to prevent the red tape of the navy from interfering with his work. For that reason, with the news of the greatest single American naval victory in history in his hands, the young reporter was unable to cable it from Manila on May 1.

Returning to Hongkong Mr. Harden, paying extra commercial cable rates, filed his news briefly but conclusively to THE TRIBUNE. It reached the home of the office shortly after 3 o'clock in the morning of Saturday, May 1. Immediately the presses were stopped, the story was put into type and at the same time long distance telephone wires were busy to Washington, calling the White House, the secretary of the navy, the secretary of war and Gen. Miles. Even the government had not had a word of what had happened.

Brief dispatches of thanks were received from Secretary Long, Secretary Alger, and Gen. Miles the next day.

Another History Maker.

In the field of national affairs another "beat" of importance was that of April 6, 1895, when Raymond Patterson, then Washington correspondent of THE TRIBUNE, obtained exclusively the Supreme court's decision which declared the income tax law invalid and necessitated a constitutional amendment.

An interesting sidelight on the changes in newspaper methods of expression in twenty-four years is revealed by the opening paragraph of that story. It read:

"Washington, D. C., April 6.—[Special.]—The United States Supreme court has shot the income tax law full of holes. The decision has been completed and only awaits formal ratification. The consultation when held at noon tomorrow."

The result of that consultation is history, and history of vital importance to every citizen of the United States, and the first news of the history making decision was carried exclusively in this paper.

"Beat" on New Testament.

Of another kind, but of vast importance, particularly among the religious, the cultured, and literary people of the country, was THE TRIBUNE's achievement in 1881 of publishing the Revised Version of the New Testament, complete, two days before any other American newspaper. A staff man had been sent to Europe for the purpose of obtaining a first copy and, on finding that impossible, returned to New York and secured a copy of the first consignment of printed volumes from England.

He obtained a copy as the first package was opened on the pier a few minutes after the ship docked. He rushed it to Chicago by train and it was set up on a Saturday night and printed as a sixteen page supplement to the regular Sunday edition of April 2, 1881.

Stensland's Capture.

In the history of bank collapses in Chicago the story of Paul O. Stensland stands out as remarkable. It was through the enterprise of THE TRIBUNE that Stensland was captured after a chase half way around the world and brought back to justice.

Stensland was president of the Milwaukee Avenue Savings bank. Simultaneously with his disappearance it was discovered the bank, which carried millions of dollars in deposits, was insolvent. THE TRIBUNE discovered Stensland's whereabouts. The information was imparted to the state's attorney, who assigned Harry Olson, an assistant to go with James Keesley of THE TRIBUNE on the long trail. To Paris, to Spain and then to Morocco they traveled. At Tangier they found Stensland. The story of the pursuit and capture was cabled to THE TRIBUNE and published exclusively in this paper.

A Civil War Scoop.

Among the earliest of news beats scored by THE TRIBUNE was that in the spring of 1862, which chronicled the union victory in the capture of Island No. 10, one of the most important actions of the early days of the civil war. This story was obtained by George P.

Upton, then war correspondent for THE TRIBUNE and a member of the staff until his death recently. Mr. Upton only a few months ago rewrote the story of that triumph of the union forces. In opening it he says:

"The capture of Island No. 10 was effected jointly by Commodore Foote's fleet of seventeen gunboats and mortar boats and by Gen. Pope's army, which effected a passage from the Missouri to the Tennessee side by means of a twelve mile canal cut across the peninsula formed by a bend of the Mississippi river."

SEVEN BROTHERS SEEK CAR WHICH CRUSHED SISTER

Scour City for Speeder as Injured Girl Lies
Near Death.

While death hovers near her bed in Northwestern hospital, seven brothers of Alma Odin, 27, a north side mission worker, are systematically combing the city in search of the automobile that ran down their sister as she was crossing the street in front of her home, 4247 Lincoln avenue.

With her arms full of groceries for her brother's Sunday dinner, Miss Odin started across the street. The car, traveling north at an estimated speed of forty-five miles an hour, struck her. She was lifted by the fender, crashed against the top of the windshield, and tumbled over the rear seat onto the pavement. Her 16-year-old brother, Rudolph, a witness of the accident, picked her up. Both of her legs were broken, her right shoulder crushed, and her skull fractured. Staff surgeons say there is but faint chance of her recovery.

Auto Never Hesitates.
The driver of the automobile refused even to slow down after he had hit the little mission worker, according to witnesses. They declare the car had no tail light and no one saw the number. It was about 10 o'clock when the accident occurred.

Hurried consultation of Edward, Harry S. Frank, N. Benjamin, George, Eugene, and Rudolph Odin, the girl's brothers, was held. Each was assigned a certain section of the north side and a thorough search for the speeding automobilist began. Three of the brothers were recently discharged from the army as expert automobile repairmen.

In a conference with Chief of Police John J. Garrity, held Sunday, Frank M. Odin told the chief that there were two men riding in the front seat of the car, the driver wearing a white shirt. He described the car as a 1914 or 1915 model touring car with a top and painted black.

The running down of Miss Odin is the latest of a series of automobile tragedies said to have occurred during the last few months at what is known in the neighborhood as "dead end" corner.

Besides her mission work Miss Odin is a member of the Moody tabernacle choir.

Victim of Crash Dies.
A broken steering gear cost the life of Emil Veit, 1832 Grace street, who died in Columbus hospital yesterday of injuries received when the motor car in which he was riding struck a post on Lake Shore drive early Sunday morning.

Other injured were:
Miss Veit, his son, who was driving. Miss Lillian Veit, Emil Veit's sister; taken to Columbus hospital.
A. W. Shelton, 1832 Grace street; taken to German-American hospital.
Thomas O'Neill, Appleton, Wis.; skull fractured.

Miss Henrietta Latham, 1450 Dearborn avenue; bruised and cut.
George Haag, 2450 Geneva avenue.

Girl Seriously Hurt.
Margaret Dillon, 16 years old, 2818 North Oakley avenue, a stenographer, was probably fatally injured when she was struck by an automobile at Oakley avenue and Irving Park boulevard last night. Robert Hammel, the chauffeur, is being held.

FOREMAN'S BOYS AND HOME FOLKS FEAST MONDAY

Col. Milton J. Foreman's 122d field artillery has one more record Chicago reception coming to its members before they drift back into "civies" and the old jobs. The entire regiment, with mothers, fathers, families, sweethearts, and friends, will banquet Monday night in Medinah temple as guests of the regimental auxiliary.

Months before the gunners received orders to come home backers of the regiment in Chicago launched their plans for the reception. Once each week from 500 to 1,000 home folks meet, read letters from the boys, shipped home comforts overseas, fought the regiment's battles at home, and laid plans for the reception.

Twenty-five hundred fighting men and thousands of relatives and friends will attend. The program includes a banquet, a pipe organ recital, and a vaudeville entertainment. If any member of the regiment failed to receive tickets he is requested to call auxiliary headquarters, Franklin 3000.

Officers and men of Battery B and members of the regimental staff will banquet in the Great Northern hotel tonight as guests of Battery B auxiliary.

CARRELL TAKES STUDIO MYSTERY SECRET TO GRAVE

Edwin Carrell, 61-year-old artist, has embarked upon the adventure into the Great Beyond. Perhaps he had so often discussed with his friends. Whether it was of his own seeking will never be known. He died without regaining consciousness.

Some of his intimate friends believe he deliberately opened the veins of his left ankle in emulation of Petronius, voluptuary and dilettante of Nero's Rome, as an experiment in psychical analysis. Unlike Petronius, however, Carrell was unable to record his mental processes at the approach of death. The cut was made too deep, and before the veins could be bound up loss of blood made death inevitable.

BLOW STRUCK IN FIGHT OVER GIRL FATAL TO BOY

Joseph Ponti would give anything in the world if he could only bring back to life the friend he killed.

Joseph is 18. The dead boy, Jacob Dienhart, was 17. He fell dead after Ponti had struck him over the heart in a quarrel about a girl—Violet Heach. Ponti lives at 2112 Belle Plaine avenue. His pal's home was just a few doors away—at 2143 Belle Plaine.

Dienhart had been going out with Violet, who lives with her uncle, a grocer at Leavitt street and Belle Plaine avenue, and when the two boys met Monday night they talked about her.

Suddenly, it is said, Dienhart struck and Ponti struck back. That was all. The police came to Ponti's home later and took him to the station. They told him Jacob was dead. He couldn't believe it.

Mrs. Ponti is a widow. She takes in washing to support her family. She has a son in the navy and another in the army, and three daughters.

"Joe is the sorriest boy on earth," she said. "He is a good boy. He didn't mean to kill Jacob—he was just defending himself. It was an accident. That's all. But how dreadful!"

"Great Australian Red" Jailed as Bill Raiser

Herbert R. Collie, alias J. C. Ross, was "the great Australian Socialist" a few weeks ago when he lectured at 20 West Randolph street on the topic, "Is Woman the Equal of Man?" Collie decided she wasn't. He is less conspicuous now in a cell of the county jail held in lieu of $10,000 bonds prescribed by United States Commissioner Mason yesterday. He is charged with raising $1 bills to fives.

DINNER TO TOP THIS FUNERAL

Gus Johnson, a derelict, who committed suicide by asphyxiation May 28 in a North Clark street lodging house, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Montrose cemetery.

Johnson's case attracted some attention because of the fact that after the body had been removed to the Shute undertaking rooms, 743 North Clark street, a mysterious stranger visited Leo M. Brieske, undertaker at 3087 Lincoln avenue, and told him to get the body and conduct a funeral.

Brieske obtained the body after paying Shute $15 for embalming services. The stranger never reappeared. Brieske thereupon announced he would give Johnson a decent burial anyway.

After the story had been published fifteen men visited Brieske and contributed $100 for funeral expenses.

Besides the hearse, taxicabs and flowers there will be enough money for a dinner, which will be held tomorrow after the funeral.

Yacht Party Costs Owner $300; Two Girls $150 Each

"They stole $75 worth of clothing and a diamond pin while they were on my yacht," said Henry Lehman, candy broker, 3883 Cottage Grove avenue.

"What were they doing on the yacht?" asked Judge Dennis W. Sullivan in the Hyde Park court.

"He made us stay there all night, and served us liquor," said Anna Callahan and Marie O'Brien, 808 East Sixty-third street, speaking at the same time. "The clothes weren't worth more than $5."

"Fine each of you girls $150 on a charge of disorderly conduct," said the judge. "You, Lehman, are fined $150 on each of two charges of disorderly conduct. These girls should be sent to the House of the Good Shepherd. Next!"

JURY CRITICISM OF CITY JUDGES DECLARED UNJUST

Commending the April grand jury for its "character and intelligence," Judge Marcus Kavanagh, chief justice of the Municipal court, yesterday ordered expunged from the court records that body's recent criticism of the judges of the Municipal bench.

"Taking the men on that grand jury as an average," the judge stated in his decision, "they stand as high as any body of men in this county—not even excepting the judiciary. I do not believe they were actuated in the making of their report in any degree by a feeling of malice. They did, however, fall into a grievous error."

The report referred to was one in which the entire judiciary of the Municipal court, and Judge Irwin Hassen in particular, were criticized for the dealings and actions toward criminals.

The jurist criticized the parents of today in a gentle way. He declared most of the criminals now are children and that the reason for this is that they are not taught to respect the law in their homes.

Stockyard Interests Dodge Sanitary District Deal

Reluctance to deal with the board of trustees of the sanitary district was expressed yesterday by members of the subcommittee representing the stockyard industries in the proposition to develop a system of disposing of waste matter from the stockyards through the drainage system.

The reason advanced by one of the committeemen was that "because of the recent utterances of one of the trustees the committee does not know whether it can be assured of the united support of the board in the work."

Pure Homemade Root Beer

Wholesome and Refreshingly
Cool—Costs Less Than
1c a Glass

Until you have made some refreshing, sparkling homemade root beer, you have no idea what it means always to have it in the house. For yourself when you are tired, for the children when they come in hot and "played out," or for the guest who drops in for a chat, a cool, luscious glass of homemade root beer, made from Hires Household Extract, is just the very thing.

And because Hires Household Extract contains no substitutes nor artificial flavoring, you can drink as much of this homemade root beer as you want. That's because Hires Household Extract is pure. It is made from the juices of pure bark, berries, herbs, and roots—including birch bark, ginger, wintergreen, and thirteen other natural flavors.

Then, too, it's so easy to make! All you need is a bottle of Hires Household Extract, sugar, and a yeast cake. Directions come with each bottle. It's remarkably economical. One 25c bottle of Hires Household Extract makes forty pints or eighty glasses—less than 1c a glass!

Get out all those old bottles which have been accumulating down the cellar. If you haven't corked to fit them, you can get some Hires specially prepared air-tight bottle stoppers from the same grocer from whom you buy your bottle of Hires Household Extract.

Once you make some of this refreshing, delicious root beer, you will never again be without it.

ILLINOIS FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The assembly has given to Illinois the honor of being the first state to ratify the constitutional amendment granting the full franchise to women. Gov. Lowden's signature is assured, inasmuch as he urged ratification in a special message.

The action of Illinois will be promptly followed by the required number of states, for the sentiment of a majority of the American people is clearly favorable, conceding the fears of the south and the conservatism of the east. Indeed, it would be strange if democratic America, with its high standard of education, its faith in human freedom, and its high conception of woman, should stand out against a tendency exhibited in much more conservative countries to extend the franchise and to turn to women for counsel and increasing cooperation in public matters.

That enfranchisement will bring the millennium, we do not expect, nor do the leaders of the woman suffrage movement expect of predict it. Where the franchise has been granted by state action certain benefits have appeared, but on the whole women have been found to follow the cleavages which divide men. They are, perhaps, more interested in questions of civic morals. We are inclined to believe they will approve legislation of moral regulation and social discipline more generally than men. They will make prohibition permanent, we suspect, and we can hardly blame them for this tendency. Women have been submitted to strict social discipline than men have accepted for themselves. They have imposed upon them a narrower and more rigid code. They have recognized the advisability, if not necessity, of these restrictions, but it is natural they have felt that what was sauce for the goose was sauce for the gander.

The alarmed male is likely to overestimate this tendency, which will vary among women voters as among men, according to local traditions, customs, and conditions. It will not be possible to plot the curve of female influence as expressed in the voting power for many years, but in any case the demand of woman for the vote has been founded on justice to her as an individual rather than upon any assured theory of expediency. If America chose to enfranchise all men regardless of educational or other tests of fitness, there was little reason for refusing to give the ballot to women. Steadily, following the democratic current of the times, this consideration has gained ground, and it has culminated, naturally enough, at a time when the intelligent service of woman and her unescapable share of sacrifice have been impressed upon the public mind. It would not be accurate to say the franchise is now to be given women as a reward for their splendid effort and unflinching sacrifice in wartime, but certainly it is a recognition of the importance of their contribution, to the great enterprise of civilized society and of their vital interest in our common future. It has been granted because it has come to be recognized as a "square deal" that women, no less than men, have the right to have a say in the laws which rule them and in the choice of agents to administer these laws.

It has been a long fight and a hard one. At this moment of success it is well to recall the sacrifices it cost the pioneers of the movement, when ridicule and hostility covered the champions of the cause and the goal lay far away. It has been an appropriate incident of the last fight that the victorious amendment bears the name of Susan B. Anthony.

KEEP GOING.

Oscar E. Hewitt reports that two new snags have appeared in the tortuous channel by which the great south shore improvement is moving—we trust it is moving toward achievement.

Snags cannot be ignored and these ought not to be, even if they could be, since they involve a possible issue of probity or good faith in dealings between the city and the railroad management. But certainly Chicago, which has waited so many years for even the beginnings of this project of first rate benefit to the community, will pray that progress be not delayed by what are in fact details.

Surely we can have a prompt and thorough examination of the questions involved in these changes while getting forward with other details. The south shore improvement has been paralyzed by piecemeal obstructions. When only one wheel mired, everybody concerned stopped pulling. Can't we now keep some part of the preparations going all the time? If we do we shall get ahead and the present generation will see the city front complete.

LAND TENANCY IN ILLINOIS.

If the McCarthy bill creating a commission to investigate land tenancy in Illinois is passed it may well serve a useful purpose. The proposed commission is to consist of five members appointed by the governor and is designed to inquire into the relations of the landlords and tenants as well as various allied subjects.

According to the census of 1910, nearly 45 per cent of the farm acreage of Illinois was occupied by tenants. We assume that the percentage has, if anything, increased since that time. In 1910 there were not many other states where the percentage was so high.

The subject, therefore, is of considerable importance in this state. We think a state land farm owners who cultivate their own land preponderate is likely to be a more stable and prosperous state than one where there is a high percentage of tenancy. The tenant does not have as great an interest in the development of a prosperous farm, nor does he have so great a stake in preserving American institutions as the farm owner.

Where tenancy exists it is first desirable to establish amicable and mutually profitable relations between the landlord and tenant. More valuable still is it to encourage the tenant to buy a farm of his own. How that may best be accomplished need not be discussed here. But it is obvious that the proposed commission on land tenancy might shed a great deal of light on the problem.

AUTOCRACIES: THUMBS DOWN.

Two things we perceive in the convention of the American Federation of Labor in Atlantic City. Industrial autocracy is warned to beware. Proletarian autocracy is bid beware. The convention lifts the roof with cheers.

"Proletarian" means nothing in America; autocracy means a great deal, would mean a great deal were inordinate power vested in either social extreme. Thumbs down for them both. So cheers the convention with the approval of the nation.

Taken by and large, the convention, its delegates, represents the best there is in a continent of labor; best thought, best living, best ideals, best traditions. What is it they have applauded so vigorously? Simply a rationally balanced state of affairs; one in which we shall have a country "fit for heroes to live in."

One hero is just as bad as another; thumbs down for them both. Who in America shall be singled out to belong to the "ruling class"? The thought of such a suggestion is as unthinkable and ludicrous in a government of the people as "where shall a brick be placed in a wall?"

The labor delegates do well to applaud rebuke for industrial autocracy and "proletarian" autocracy. If there is a proletariat in America we are all proletarians; if autocrats all autocrats, happily neither; but only striving for a common sense middle ground upon which all may live with due credit for skill and intelligence.

PUNISHMENTS AND CRIMES.

As an individual, Earl Dear, condemned to be hanged as a murderer, is of no special consequence one way or the other. But as one upon whom the law has a claim he provides a subject fit for comment in that it is the Dears and the inappropiate delays of the law that contribute severally and in mass to the strangled condition of criminal justice in Chicago.

It were too bad to select Dear out of the apaches of Chicago if penalty is to be considered as social revenge. There is no more reason to be revenged upon Dear than any other of his class. But legal punishment is not revenge. It should have two virtues: warning to evildoers and the opportunity for reform.

One phase of our reform system that has gone sadly askew is that of parole. It plays straight into the hands of the indifferent politicians who perceive in it the opportunity to not only repay questionable favors but in so doing invoke the aid of the most irresistible human trait—sympathy.

Another phase is the legal delay, not a new one but an old one turned to devious purposes. The law's delay is an ancient principle involving the safeguarding of the accused, so that he may not be rushed off to punishment without deliberation and investigation. Nor is the principle attacked; only defended to the exclusion of abuses of it.

The case of Dear was taken to the Supreme court of the United States, of itself an extraordinary procedure, on no more important a plea than that one initial of one member of the grand jury which indicted him was incorrectly inscribed. What has such infinite search for palpably inconsequential trifles to do with justice?

It was not a question of material facts, not a question of the authority of the grand jury, or of the correctness of its return, or of the accuracy of the court's judgment; simply a question of delay. Again we ask that Dear, the individual, doesn't matter. What does matter is the ridiculous length to which trials and appeals are dragged out. It matters to the extent that law loses its majesty and criminals do not fear it, but regard it as something to be tricked and cheated. Criminals no longer worry about such details as arrest and indictment. These have become a part of criminal routine. Eluding arrest is mere nothing. Eluding the processes of trial and punishment, that is something.

Were it not Dear's misfortune to face hanging it is conceivable that he would not long remain unfree. For once within prison walls repentance and regeneration are proper pleas for parole; for the new start in life.

Thus, one phase of the intolerable crime situation in Chicago, the failure to swift justice and the failure to make it operative once applied. Facing the gallows, a prisoner may twist the law for many months; facing prison, he has only to simulate reform. As long as the pardons board has not the power to scrutinize human souls there will be fake reform; and so long as the court machinery is slow there will be sneers at justice.

Editorial of the Day

PROGRESS IN IRELAND.

[From the Irish Homestead.]

Imagination in Ireland begins to work after a deed is done. A practical and unimaginative group begin drilling and arming and the whole country goes into imagination excited, and drilling and arming became the serious recreation and fearful joy of many thousands of young Irishmen. A practical and unimaginative group started organizing co-operative societies, and on the result of their work the imagination of Irishmen everywhere is beginning to play and is building on this foundation the civilization of the heart's desire. We have long wished for this conquest of the Irish mind, and it can bring about nothing but good, for we have had far too little social theorizing in Ireland. There is an interminable literature about political ideals, but very little in comparison has been thought about the social order, and the only hope we have is that the imagination, once it is set free, will not create such lovely palaces in the mind that the actual hard work of organization will become less attractive than the speculation. There was a time when a great many people were so anxious to promote village and industries that they withdrew from actual work so that they might become inspectors or instructors, which allowed the mind to act freely without exhaustion of the muscular system. We hope our idealists will go on speculating and imagining, but we desire that their imagination will play upon practical problems—the solution of the problems of labor, of finance, of organization, technical difficulties, and education—rather than upon remote culminations. The hardest work is before us, and the complications of the problem to be solved will require the best intellect and the highest character the movement can requisition in its service.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO.

"Fay ce que voudras."

"MY vision," observed Mr. Clement K. Shorter, balancing a meditative crystal ball on his thumb and forefinger, "is that this city by the lake will become the most beautiful city in the world."

Quella! appellation, C. K. But, as Pope articulated, "Man never is, but always to be blest."

He Has Probably Gone Fishin'.

Sir: "While our great men are living we throw bricks at 'em; after they are dead we put their names on five-cent cigars and tell how good they were"—but what I started to ask was, What has become of ex-Mayor Harrison?

J. F. B.

THE stimulating influence of debate may lead some senator to make a witty remark about "throwing a monkey wrench into the peace conference."

NOW YOU KNOW EXACTLY HOW THE TERM "BLIMP" ORIGINATED.

In a pamphlet of Aeronautical Terms published by the War Department, it is defined as "a small non-rigid dirigible used chiefly for marine reconnaissance." It is not a term covering all government dirigibles, but only those of small non-rigid types, and our "blimps" were copied after those of the British Naval Air Service, and are designed especially for coast patrol, and are controlled by the Navy Department.

"THIRTY minutes night and morning on the train if you are a commuter; one hour a day; forty-eight-hour days a year. How do you spend them?"—The valued Post.

Well, in the morning we read the morning papers, and in the evening we read the evening papers. Rotten way to spend the time, but it has to be done.

OLD STUFF.

[From "The Education of Henry Adams."]

"Cassini and Holben helped the Senate to make what trouble they could, without serious offense, and the Irish, after the general Celtic nature, obstructed every measure."

PERHAPS the idea of throwing monkey wrenches into the peace conference is to tighten up the loose nuts in it.

We'd Be Glad to Help You Out, Daily We're Leaving for a Brief Vacation.

Sir: Like Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough, my researches have ever lain more among men than books. Occasionally I scan, lightly, pleasant gossip, as Mr. Austin Dobson might have it, and have set you down psychogaster. Prithoe, counsel elucidatory; my need is sore. Stole into the scriptorium this morning Hok N'g Ts'ail, of Hong Kong, giving me a book of "We All Know" as "Special Student of Money and Banking." Ceasing, for a moment, what Horace called the modest industry of the Matinee bee, I gave ear to monotone caressing: "Professeth: you my father; you tell me wisdom; I want very much elect Doctor."

You teach me he velly good pleases; student my holding house say me he not hinkedam: not dictionary; no; you teach me what mean? The student of Lichon once wrote: "We all know you fond even the mere Editor becomes of the Author whose works he studies and gives to the world." You'll not fall me: I asked time for reflection: What shall I tell this?

"MR. LATATO announced the firm determination of all Latinians to die in defense of their independence."

That eliminates one problem. Next!

A CLASSIC FEAST.

[From the Ohio State Journal.]

The Latin Society held its annual banquet at the Chittenden last Saturday. There was a large attendance and an agreeable evening. The study of Latin has a refining influence on people, and one could easily feel that influence in these gatherings. There was more sparkling talk in that company than we have heard for many a day. It was a very pleasant affair, and while we had quite forgotten our Latin, we managed in twenty minutes to talk to as many lovely young ladies. We intend to revive our Latin before the next meeting comes. We all know you fond even the mere Editor becomes of the Author whose works he studies and gives to the world. You'll not fall me: I asked time for reflection: What shall I tell this?

IF the practice of giving prizes for the best newspaper headlines is still in effect, we hope the grand prize last week was awarded to the genius who constructed the line, "Ireland United for Separation."

They Drink It by the Teaspoon in Calif.

The amount of beer remaining in the brewery vaults of California at noon today is figured approximately as follows by experts of the brewers' association: 400,000; gallons per keg; 31; drinks per gallon, 400.

"GLASSES," says Doc Evans, "should be fitted and worn slowly." One should avoid, remarks C. F. P., spurring them on with eyelashes.

[From the Imperishable Times.]

Most of the candidates supported by The Times for the various offices were elected. Los Angeles is rapidly approaching the million mark in population. Business is good. This great journal is carrying a greater volume of advertising than any other newspaper on earth. The weather is fine. Barbecue and yellowfin are running. Beef is going down. You can get a shave now for 15 cents. Vacation days are coming and peaches are ripe. Praise God from whom all blessings flow!

TURKEY'S grand vizier is informed that the peace council cannot hear him as a plenipotentiary, but if he wishes to drop in and smoke a cigarette and talk about the weather, they'll be glad to see him.

ONLY BY LYING PRONE ON THE RACK. Sir: Heard on the elevated: "He went and lost my umbrella on me." Can it be done? VENIE.

"BOTH Wirth and Gottlieb have expressed their intention of returning to their native countries, Germany and Russia, immediately after graduation."

Dear! Can't anything be said to persuade them to remain?

Idle Curiosity.

[From the West Liberty, Ia., Index.]

About 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, while it was raining, I left my umbrella in front of Watters' store, and 30 minutes later I returned and found it gone. I would give the cost of 10 umbrellas to know who took it.

MAYFLOWER STOCK.

HE Mayflower descendants are not on the road to destruction, according to J. G. Bartlett of the New England Genealogical society. It is true the margin of safety is exceedingly narrow, but, if his reckonings are correct, they will be with us for some time yet.

About 25,000 colonists came to New England between 1620 and 1648. Between the latter year and 1700 there was no immigration except about 8,000 Scotch-Irish. According to the census of 1790 there were 1,125,000 people of New England stock in the country, of whom 1,000,000 lived in New England. They then comprised 28 per cent of the total population.

The New England stock doubled its numbers every twenty-eight years between 1650 and 1845. During those years the average family comprised parents and eight children. Of these two died in infancy. In 1845 the birth rate of this New England stock began to fall. In the decade 1900 to 1910 there were 2,711 children in the average family. This, based on the census of 1900, kept the stock from dying out, provided the baby death rate is kept low and the marriage rate is kept high.

By 1919 the New England stock had fallen to 10.5 per cent of the total population, there being 11,000,000 of them. The melting pot is not working so far as they are concerned, since they seldom marry outside of their kind and then principally with British stock.

There were 101 passengers on the Mayflower. Of these 145 died within a few months after landing. They were a most prolific breed. The fifty had increased to 270 by 1650. In 1919 there were 25,000 of them. But their birth rate began to drop in 1845 and for two generations it has been very low. However, Bartlett thinks a birth rate of 2.70 children to the family will save them if they will keep their infant mortality rate down. While they win by an easily, nevertheless they win according to Bartlett, always assuming they guard against those two ills.

In the same issue of the Journal of Heredity as that in which Bartlett writes there is an article on immigration in which the thumb-nail sketch of the New England stock is given. P. Hall says the United States would have a larger population today if there had been no immigration since 1820. This New England stock would have contributed the high birth rate had there been no immigration, according to Hall. As proof he says that whenever the New England stock is removed to sections of the country where there are no people born abroad or children of persons born abroad the birth rate goes back somewhere near the old level.

He tells us that in Italy when large numbers of people emigrate from a district the birth rate rises until the vacuum is filled. The enormous emigration from England during the last few centuries has been a good thing, as stated by increases in the birth rate. Frankly, he would like to see immigration.

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER.

The Friend of the Soldier will cooperate with the war risk insurance bureau of the treasury department, 1807 Stock Exchange building, Chicago, and with the committee of the Chicago Bar association on legal assistance to soldiers and sailors, 105 West Monroe street.

Address inquiries to Friend of the Soldier, "Chicago Tribune." Answers to as many as possible will be published in this department. To insure a personal reply an addressed and stamped envelope should be inclosed.

No attention will be paid to anonymous letters.

CORRECTION.

The Seventh Division is a Cavalry Division.

In yesterday's issue of THE TRIBUNE the 7th division was listed as one of those regular army divisions which is to remain in the army of occupation. The 7th division, with the 4th, 5th, and 6th divisions, was released for return this month, but later orders for the release of the 4th and 5th divisions were recalled and only the 6th and 7th divisions are to remain in June. Part of the 6th division is on the way home now.

TO O. R. C. TRAINING CAMP. Cairo, Ill. June 4.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Will there be any infantry officers' reserve corps training camps this summer? If so, where, when, and to whom does one apply for entrance?

E. M. P. Up to the present time no plans have been made for a reserve officers' training camp for any branch of the army.

ANSWERS.

E. P. P.—The 602d engineers have been assigned early convoy.

Mrs. Kallher—The relatives of a soldier cannot collect the $50 bonus in case of the soldier's death in France.

Austin Clarke—We do not have records of individuals in the army. The office of the adjutant general has a complete file showing the names and addresses of all members of every soldier in the army. We suggest that you communicate with that office, giving the soldier's full name.

B. W. Chase—Camp hospital 65 is scheduled to arrive in New York June 12 on the transport Madonna.

Chief Benson—Sales commissary unit 28 of the quartermaster corps is designated for early return. No date was mentioned for its sailing and it has probably not been determined.

Flo Snyder—The 12th division is carrying about 12,000 troops of the 6th division. It is due in New York now.

G. F. O.—The 306th engineers is to sail soon. It is part of the 51st division.

Mrs. Ada Anderson—Auxiliary City, La.—A. P. O. 948 is in Toulouse, France.

C. Kramer—The 301st engineers have been designated for early convoy. No date has been determined for its sailing.

P. W. Harrison, Duluth, Minn.—Base hospital 220 has returned and has been demobilized.

Norths Hughes—The 15th ammunition train has returned. Part of it sailed on the Canard, which arrived May 31 at Philadelphia, and the rest on the Edgar Luckenbach, which arrived at Boston June 4.

J. F. Kearney—Under a bill signed by the president, March 1, 1919, all soldiers, sailors, and marines discharged from the service since Nov. 11, 1918, are to be allowed travel pay at the rate of 5 cents per mile. Those who will receive this rate may apply for the difference to the auditor for the date and place of last discharge.

G. B. Colton—Clothing unit 319 is attached to the first division in the army of occupation; their early return is not expected.

Mrs. A. N. Herzmiller—Company 4 of the 24 air service mechanics regiment does not exist at home and they will not be assigned early sailing. It is not decided on which boat it will sail.

Fred Schrock—Sales commissary unit 50 is attached to advance general headquarters in Germany. Location is Treves.

T. W. Cox—Field remount squadron 319 is located in St. Etienne, France; it has been detailed to the service of supplies.

Crystal Schoerchmidt—The 414th telegraph battalion does not belong to any division. It has not been designated for return, but is stationed in Dun-squ-Meuse, France.

A. F. Fitch—The 30th field signal battalion has been cited for early return, but the sailing time has not been determined.

Jake Bernstein—Mobile hospital unit 10 arrived in Boston June 9 on the transport President Grant.

C. B. Hitchcock—The 5th and 6th regiments of marines are in the 24th division. Their duties are to occupy the island in suffering for return for several weeks.

E. C. J.—The 602d engineers have been designated for early sailing.

H. B. Walton, Dubuque, Ia.—The 32nd infantry has returned and will soon be Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., for demobilization.

Steven Wackel—The 33th bakery company is in Nantes, France, unassigned to convoy.

Mrs. Glenn Duff, Warsaw, Ind., and Mrs. William O. Miller, Paris, Ill.—Base hospital 218 is in Rimouski. This unit is expected to sail soon, having been designated for early return.

Mrs. O. Loeiselle, Kankakee, Ill.—Motor transport company 328 is in Camp Meade, Maryland; repair unit 328 of the motor transport corps is still in France and has not been released for return.

E. Christman—The 4th mobile engineer repair shop is not among the units selected for early return. It is with the 24 division in the army of occupation.

P. Murphy, Urbana, Ill.—The 375th aero squadron is to sail soon; definite sailing date not known.

A. Mather—Company 5 of the transportation corps was lately reported to be in Rochelle, France. It has not been designated for early return.

Helen Lakey, Beloit, Wis.—Repair unit 223 of the mobile engineer repair shop has not been ordered to prepare for homecoming.

J. V. Mead—It is not clear to us on which you wish information. A. P. O. 797, is in Nantes, France.

WILL LOOK AFTER CROSSING.

Chicago, June 4.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I wish to call your attention to the condition of the east and west crossings at Kedzie and Armitage.

There is a deep depression just north of the car tracks and is located so that it is very difficult to distinguish the water level. A car or automobile who is not acquainted with the crossing almost invariably meets with depression with terrific impact.

Cannot this crossing be repaired so as to eliminate danger of accident?

M. F. S.

COATED TONGUE.

M. S. Miller: "For several months I have been troubled with a coated tongue."

Apparently I am in splendid health; my digestive system is in good condition. A month ago I had infected tonsils removed and the condition improved a bit. Will this condition cause harm to my system?

REPLY.

No. If your tongue is foul due to it with a dull case knife. Chewing will help to clean it.

POLICIES UNASSESSABLE.

Chicago, June 2.—[To the Friend of the Insured.]—I have two policies in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee. One is a twenty payment, taken out Sept. 18, 1905, marked "22 Limited Payment Life." One is a whole life policy, taken out June 23, 1917.

Are these policies assessable? R.

DOUGHBOY THE
REAL WAR HERO,
3 COLONELS SAYForeman, Clinkin, and Davis Victory Dinner Stars.

Three Chicago colonels, Foreman, Davis, and Clinkin, fought their battles over again at a victory dinner given them last night by the Chicago Bar Association. Guns roared, armies moved forward; men—boys most of them—fought and laughed and died again in the vivid pictures of war that were drawn by the pathos and of humor.

The Great American Doughboy was their theme. He is the angel of these leaders, and they revere him. They talked lovingly of another. They talked, too, a little about themselves, but when they did, their talk inspired laughter. It was that kind of talk.

Judges' Not Paris Gowns.

Col. John V. Clinkin, the junior of the three, was first to speak. As he went to speak the cheering was like thunder.

"I see," he said, "that the judges have adopted the wearing of gowns. I am glad to see that, for it adds dignity to the bench. But I can assure you that I am not a Parisian. In Paris they are cutting the medium of the women's gowns—they waste no material there. I think it would be pleasant if we followed suit."

Laughter. Then Col. Clinkin's bearing changed.

"You are giving us colonels a dinner last night," he continued. "You are honoring us. I want to say that we don't deserve it—not one-half so much as do the splendid boys, the enlisted men, who fought for us and with us, and who died, when that was necessary, to do what we told them to do."

They were married in Chicago. He was 23 years old and she was 16 at that time. And Mrs. Lewis, despite the sixty years that have passed since then, still feels like a June bride, she says.

The happy old-weds have four children, Dave B. Lewis, Mrs. Florine Gelman, Maurice W. Lewis, and Mrs. Edith C. Stallenth; six grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Likewise it might be interesting to note that there is to be "some" party at the Lewis home today and night.

Mr. Lewis is the oldest member of Blair lodge, A. F. & A. M., and both are members of the Lake View chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

KEEP RATES UP,
GAS PLEA TO BOARD TODAYCompany to File Appeal with State Utilities Commission.

The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company will apply to the public utilities commission this morning for permission either to increase its rates or to continue indefinitely the present war-emergency tariff of 88 cents per thousand cubic feet.

It was reported from reliable sources last night that an extension, rather than an increase, would be sought. The company, it is believed, also will ask for a complete appraisal of its plant and, eventually, a new rate based thereon.

Rates Fixed Last Year.

The prevailing charge to consumers was created by order of the public utilities commission, July 31, 1918, and will expire automatically on the same date this year. It raised a 70 cent rate, authorized by a contract between the company and the city, wherein certain changes in manufacture and a reduction in the number of heat units in the gas were permitted—a contract which the company agreed to abide by for twelve months.

The specified period had not elapsed, however, before the United States entered the war and the application to the utilities commission for leave to exact more revenue was made on the basis of war emergency. The president and Secretary McCord had issued statements covering the needs of public service corporations in wartime.

Officials Are Silent.

No officer of the company would discuss last night the action to be taken, though it had been agreed Friday between Commissioner Funk and counsel for the utility in the rate hearing, which Mr. Funk is conducting, that such a petition should be presented today. Persons in close touch with the situation believed, nevertheless, that the company would content itself with the present charge—if the commission will authorize it continued—rather than complicate the proceedings before Mr. Funk by demanding a still higher rate.

The commissioner is attempting now to determine whether the company is rendering adequate and courteous service to the public.

ALDERMEN DIVIDE
TASK OF SURVEYING
POLICE CONDITIONS

EVERY phase of work of Chicago's police department is to be looked into by the city council committee on police. Subcommittees were appointed yesterday to take up the various lines of work.

These subcommittees will work independently of the public sessions of the committee. The subcommittees are:

Personnel of police department—Steffen, chairman; Cermak, Eaton, Maypole, Byrne.

First deputy's office—Guernsey, chairman; Touhy, Krundick.

Second deputy's office—Smith, chairman; Kuntz, Guernsey.

Traffic squad—Gover, chairman; Burns, Passmore.

Detective bureau—Maypole, chairman; Furman, Eaton, Cermak, Kuntz, Steffen, Passmore.

The appointment of the subcommittees, according to statements made at yesterday's meeting, will so divide the work of the committee that a comprehensive survey of the entire department can quickly be made.

Col. John V. Clinkin, commander of the 130th Infantry, who made a study of police matters in France and other foreign countries, is to appear before the committee this afternoon to give the aldermen the benefit of his experience.

Committee of 15 to Tell
U. S. of City's Postal Needs

A committee of fifteen citizens to appear before the land and improvement committee appointed by congress to set forth Chicago's postoffice building program was decided upon at a conference yesterday between Postmaster William B. IT IS THE DUTY OF THE ALLIED DEMOCRACIES TO RECOGNIZE THE OMSK GOVERNMENT!

The All-Russian Government in Omsk, led by Admiral Alexander Kolchak, includes representatives of all shades of Russian progressive public opinion, liberal and socialist, and works in close cooperation with the organs of local self-government—the Municipalities and Zemstvos. The Democratic, Socialist and Cooperative Organizations, in the territories liberated from the Bolsheviks, support the All-Russian Government. The All-Russian Government pledges itself to convoke an All-Russian Constituent Assembly as soon as the plague of Bolshevism is destroyed.

Read "STRUGGLING RUSSIA," a weekly magazine devoted to Russian problems, and you will find there, from week to week, all the most important documents of Russia's regeneration as a democratic State.

The Program of The Omsk Government

Admiral Kolchak, the head of the Omsk Government and the Commander-in-Chief of the Russian Armies, addressing in Ekaterinburg a joint Session of the Municipal Council and of the Zemstvo Assembly, thus formulated the program of the Government:

"The program of the Government is to reestablish the economic and political life of the country in close cooperation with the organs of local self-government—the Municipalities and Zemstvos. The first task of the Government is to reestablish the rule of law and order, the rule destroyed by Bolshevism from the Left and the Right. The Government will fight, without any possibility of compromise, the Bolsheviks of the Left and of the Right, with the purpose of establishing a great, free, democratic Russia.

The future Russia will be a democratic Russia. The Government, of which I have the honor to be the head, believes in universal suffrage, in the autonomous development of the nationalities comprising Russia, in a democratic solution of the main Russian problems: the land problem and the labor problem.

The Government considers the people of Russia the supreme authority in all problems pertaining to Russia's life. After the menace of Bolshevism is destroyed, the people of Russia, through a freely chosen Constituent Assembly, will express their supreme will and will define the structure of the State, will solve the main political, social and national problems. The Government and myself will consider it our duty to transfer to the Constituent Assembly all the power which now belongs to the Government."

("Struggling Russia," May 7, 1919.)

Land and Labor Policy of the Omsk Government

On April 10th, 1919, the All-Russian Government in Omsk issued the following Declaration:

"It is the duty of the Government to assure the agricultural population that the harvest will belong to those who are at present cultivating the soil. Consequently, the Government declares that all who at present profit from the land, who have sown and cultivated it, even if they are not legally the proprietors or tenants, have the right to reap the harvest. The present measures are being taken with the view to meet the indispensable land needs of the laboring rural population. The agrarian question, in its final form, will be decided by the Constituent Assembly.

Legislation regulating land relations, as well as concerning temporary utilization of seized land, just distribution of same, and, finally, regarding compensation of former proprietors, will be enacted in the near future. The general aim of these laws will be to transfer the land to the laboring population and extend assistance to the development of farms without discrimination whether they are established on principles of private or communal land ownership."

("Struggling Russia," June 7, 1919.)

The Minister of Labor in the Omsk Government, a Social-Democrat and a member of the Constituent Assembly, Leonid Shumilovsky, said the following to the representatives of the press:

"The policy of the Ministry of Labor is to combine the protection of labor with the interests of the State. The interests of the workingmen can be safeguarded and the living conditions for the working class can be improved only on condition that the industries in the country will exist and develop. The destruction of the industries means poverty and utter need, first of all, for the workingmen. We have decided upon an eight hour working day in all the industries. The State is

Admiral Alexander Kolchak, the head of the All-Russian Government in Omsk and the Commander-in-Chief of the Russian Armies.

Interested in establishing working conditions under which the generations should grow up strong physically, morally and intellectually. We have introduced sickness and unemployment insurance. With the help of the Government, employment bureaus will be established everywhere on the territory cleared from the Bolsheviks. The Ministry of Labor greets the tendency of the workingmen to organize themselves into unions, considering it in the interest of the State that the workingmen should form themselves into an organized, disciplined body."

("Struggling Russia," June 7, 1919.)

The Democratic and Socialist Organizations Support the Omsk Government

IRKUTSK

"The political organizations of the city of Irkutsk have united in a bloc which, among others, includes the Constitutional Democrats, the Autonomists and the Social Democrats, of the Group 'Yedinstvo.' The parties have decided to support the Omsk Government, which has as its task the regeneration of Russia and the convocation of the Constituent Assembly. In their first declaration, the parties composing the bloc declare that the time has come when Russia should occupy again the place which belongs to her among the great nations of the world."

("Struggling Russia," May 3, 1919.)

OMSK

"The Socialist Groups in Omsk issued on February 23rd, 1919, a declaration in which they called upon the people to support the legitimately functioning Omsk Government, founded on the basis of the rule of the people and the summoning of a new Constituent Assembly as the sovereign organ of free Russia."

("Struggling Russia," May 17, 1919.)

PERM

"The Socialists-Revolutionists, the Social-Democrats and the Labor Unions in Perm have united in a bloc which published its first Declaration calling upon all Democratic and Socialist organizations to participate in the regeneration of Russia and in the building up of an Army capable of fighting the enemies of the Russian State. The Declaration announces that the organs of local self-government, the Municipalities and Zemstvos, as well as all other public bodies, will support the Omsk Government against all anarchistic elements."

("Struggling Russia," June 7, 1919.)

The Cooperatives Support the Omsk Government

The Council of the All-Siberian Cooperative Assemblies says the following in its recent Declaration:

"The All-Siberian Cooperative Movement—as the expression of the unity of the creative democratic elements—strives for the rehabilitation of the destroyed statehood of Russia.

The United Cooperatives of Siberia consider it of utmost necessity that all democratic elements who think in terms of State-building should unite upon one common platform. The immediate aims of our political activities must be—the support of the existing Omsk Government, which has proclaimed itself a democratic rule; the steering of its political course into democratic channels; the struggle with anti-democratic influences from the Right as well as with the anarcho-destructive forces from the Left; the strengthening of the ties between the rear and the fighting Front and the support of the Army as the cultural force which is reconquering the violated rights of the people to the formation of a democratic State; and the establishment, fortifying and development of friendly relations with Governments and democracies allied with us, such as France, England, America and others."

("Struggling Russia," May 17, 1919.)

On the basis of this and other documents coming from Russia, the following Appeal to the American people and to the Members of Congress was issued on May 20th, at the office of the Russian Cooperative Unions, No. 136 Liberty Street, New York City, signed by V. N. Bashkirev, the representative of the Siberian Union of Creamery Societies, uniting over 4,500 Cooperative Organizations; G. A. Martushin, the representative of the Northern Cooperative Unions of Archangel; A. A. Trutnev, the representative of the Siberian Union of Cooperative Unions "Zakoposbit," uniting over 9,500 Cooperative Organizations, and Chairman of the Cooperative Unions of the government of Irkutsk; N. G. Zolotookhin, representative of the Cooperative Unions of the Transbaikalian region, and C. A. Kovalsky, delegate of the Council of the All-Siberian Cooperative Assemblies:

"In these terrible and trying times of bloody rule that our suffering and worn-out country is passing through, the Cooperative Organizations of Siberia and North Russia serve as a unifying link for all the honest, healthy and State-preserving elements of the Russian democracy. In the fight for freedom and for the political and economic regeneration of Russia, the Council of the All-Siberian Cooperative Assemblies, uniting in itself all the central organizations of Siberia, has adopted a definite political and social-economic program in the domain of real, practical, everyday endeavor. This practical program the United Cooperatives of Siberia are realizing through their local units and representatives in the Cooperative Organizations, in the Zemstvo self-governments, and social and governmental institutions.

The All-Siberian United Cooperatives are fully cognizant of the abnormal conditions in which the territories liberated from the Bolsheviks—the Ural, Siberia and the North Russian Provinces—find themselves, where in pain and anguish a new Russian statehood is arising. Nevertheless, considering the unusual difficulties connected with the work of rebuilding and reestablishing legality and order in a land overburdened financially and economically, ravaged by civil war and hunger, and with a popular psychology corrupted by Bolshevism, the United Cooperatives recognize and support—until the formation of a new, ultimate Government through the Constituent Assembly—the Provisional Russian Government formed on Siberian territory and headed by Admiral Kolchak. The Cooperatives are lending their support to it as to a practical Governmental central power subscribing to democratic principles, which is reestablishing the State, creating a fighting, disciplined Army, and placing itself under obligations to bring the country to the gates of an All-Russian Constituent Assembly, and to insure its unity and independence."

15 CENT MILK DUE IN OCTOBER; MAY CLIMB UP TO 16

Prices Now Prevailing
Expected to Stay for Summer.

The wholesale price of milk will start upward again next month. The increase will resume early in the fall and continue until the high mark is reached in December.

Somewhere between these points the retail price of milk in Chicago is scheduled to go up another cent a quart, to 15 and possibly 16 cents.

The tentative schedule of wholesale prices has been spread by the producers' association, which operates through the selling agency of the Milk Producers' Cooperative Marketing company.

The farmers this month are getting the low mark—$2.56 a hundred pounds, or 5.2 cents a quart.

Plan Three Months' Rate.
The tentative schedule under consideration by the wholesale agency puts the July price to the farmers up to $3 a hundred pounds, or 6.5 cents a quart. It is now proposed the $3 rate be maintained through July, August and September, although the peak load of the milk supply in the Chicago district in the good old summer time is reached in June and the recession begins about the first of July.

But it is thought probable by the price makers that the dairymen can stand the $3 rate through the three mid-summer months, unless unusually severe weather conditions unexpectedly should force the herds onto a dry diet.

The schedule calls for an increase to $3.20 a hundred in October, adding about one-half cent a quart to the mid-summer scale, making it about 7 cents a quart for the dairymen.

December is to see the high wholesale price—at least $3.45 and possibly $3.65, or 7.5 and 8 cents a quart to the producer.

Expect No Increase.
The milk experts, without first hand or authoritative information, do not believe the distributors and manufacturers in the Chicago district—the middlemen—will take advantage of the $3 wholesale rate next month, in view of what they did recently in boosting the retail price to 14 cents a quart.

The reason for the increase, as given to the public, was the strike of the drivers, who, by the way, were locked out by some distributors, or middlemen. Anyway, the cent increase adds about $2,500,000 annually to the middlemen's gross income, and of this the union drivers, for whom the raise was made in order to give them better wages, will receive about 40 per cent, it is estimated.

There is still 60 per cent of the $2,500,000 that cannot be charged up to higher wages, and the producers have a hunch that the Chicago middlemen will stand the July, August, and September increase of the wholesale price to $3 and charge up a part of the

CATHOLIC CHARITIES DRIVE NETS $122,082 IN FIRST THREE DAYS

THE third day of the Associated Catholic Charities of Chicago campaign for $750,000 found the fund totaling only $122,082.40, but the solicitors are at work in the 347 parishes of the city, and those in charge of the drive have no doubt that the necessary sum will be obtained.

At St. Viktor's, Addison and Kedzie avenues, and at other parish halls throughout the city, there were meetings last night, and organizations were perfected for house to house canvassing.

The assembly hall of St. Elizabeth's church, Forty-first street and Wabash avenue, was crowded Monday night. John P. Murphy, manager of the savings department of the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank, presided at the meeting. Capt. George McCarthy, chaplain of the Fort Sheridan military hospital, was the principal speaker.

St. David's parish, in charge of the Rev. James McNamee—a "back of the Yards" district—was the first to report. The initial effort of the parishioners there had raised $300.

1 cent recently imposed for union labor account.

15 Cent Milk in October.

But when the producers add the 1/2 cent a quart in October the middlemen in Chicago, they believe, will stick up the retail price to the ultimate consumer another cent, giving Chicago 15 cent milk.

Then will come the big boost in December on the part of the producers who may insist on even 8 cents a quart.

The middlemen now are operating on a gross spread of 8.8 cents a quart. That is, they pay the farmers this month 5.2 cents a quart and sell it for 14 cents.

If, when the farmers get their wholesale price up to around 8 cents a quart in December, as is now planned, the middlemen insist on their 8.8 spread, it would bring the retail price of milk next winter to 16 or even 16.5 cents a quart.

But thus far the experts have not figured in excess of 15 cents a quart to the ultimate consumer, although an even higher price is a possibility, they say.

Down in January.

The milk rate will not begin the descent again until in January, when the producers expect to shave off half a cent a quart, or make the midwinter price $3.45 a hundred pounds.

This schedule of wholesale prices for the next six months in Chicago is based on the assumption by the milk producers that the present high price of everything will continue, particularly as to grains, hay, and concentrates, which go to produce both quantity and butter fat in the dairy herds.

"Wells at His Best"

THE UNDYING FIRE

H. G. Wells' New Novel

"An enduring novel, a great drama. . . . His theme is the greatest of all: the purpose of life and of the universe. It has great power and fineness of execution. . . . It is Wells, the poet: the maker, creator, upbuilder. Here he speaks judiciously with restraint and precision of measure, as well as with burning intensity. . . . Coming at this hour, 'The Undying Fire' is probably Wells' greatest public service as well as one of his finest books. . . . It may stand out as a landmark of our time a century from today."—N. Y. PAVING PROJECTS
GET FALTERING
START AT LAST

$735,000 Worth Award-
Old Estimates Halt
Street Work.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

At last street construction starts in Chicago, but it is a faltering start. It was known that it seems improbable Chicago will do a normal amount of street construction this year.

A dozen and a half contracts for street paving were awarded yesterday by the board of local improvements. The first set of contracts was awarded April 1 last year, and by June 11 four more contracts, involving probably more than $2,000,000, had been let.

The contracts awarded to date this year total around $735,000. They are divided approximately as follows:

Capital, 11 contracts.....$ 400,000
Sundown, 4 contracts.....150,000
Oswego, 1 contract.....105,000
Rush, 2 contracts.....80,000

Total.....$735,000
In addition, the 1919 contracts for street work will cost less than $5,000 and the amount of work involved in sidewalk contracts is comparatively small.

War Halts Projects.

Last year about ninety miles of sidewalks were constructed. The war prevented a larger amount. In normal years the mileage often runs between 100 and 200.

The sidewalk contracts to date this year amount for less than thirteen miles.

War also interfered last year with the construction of pavements, but contracts were awarded for more than $1,000,000 worth. In 1917 the contracts represented $7,400,000, but that year was considerably above the average.

Not only has the city obtained a late start in street construction, but President Faherty said yesterday he did not expect the board of local improvements to do anything like a normal year's work before the winter sets in.

Estimates Out of Date.
"Why not?" Mike was asked.
"What can we do?" he replied. "We have a large amount of work on hand. It has been confirmed in court on the basis of estimates made two, three, and four years ago, and they are all out of date."

Must Start All Over.
"What are you going to do?"
"Throw aside all the court confirmations and start new special assessments now, so we can get the court to confirm an estimate in the neighborhood of what the work will cost."

"Can you do all that preliminary

BOY-OF 14 CASHES
CHECK FOR $150
AND DISAPPEARS

They want to find Abraham Engler, 14 years old, the frenzied financier.

Abraham Engler, 14 years old, the frenzied financier, is the son of L. H. Engler, caller, at 108 North State street.

The vacation period approaching, Abe visited the First National bank May 29 and cashed a check for $150. Then he departed, and hasn't been seen since.

His father would like to know where he is summing. He will pay $50 for the information. Abe's mother is seriously ill.

work over again and award contracts and get much work done this summer."
"No, of course not," said Mike, "but what else can we do? I have been working in Springfield for a long time to get the law on supplemental assessments amended, but they don't act very fast down there."

The Seats of the Mighty

To gain an idea of the might of women as a commercial factor in the modern world, realize that Delineator families, for whom the household purchasing is done by women, are spending $39,300 for furniture today, and spend that same amount every day in the year that the stores are open. Nearly every household necessity that woman does not purchase direct, she influences the choice of. To sell your goods, describe them to the women "purchasing agents" of American homes.

Roll Call

of White Truck Fleets In Actual Service

YEAR after year this list grows. It is something more than a list of well-known concerns owning ten or more White Trucks. It represents a yearly progress in added trucks per owner—the most extensive growth of individual fleets ever published by a truck maker.

The buyer of one or many trucks can have no better guide than the experience of those whose trucking volume affords a comparative knowledge of results.

There are now 2,774 fleets in active service, totaling 33,139 White Trucks, exclusive of all single truck installations.

BENCH AND BAR BATTLE TO TIE ON THE DIAMOND

Only Dinner Bell Ends
Practice Game at Grant Park.

Legal lights of Chicago will tell you this is real baseball weather. They know, because as late as 5 o'clock p. m. yesterday the lawyers, sitting against the judges, were perching, panting and debating the fine points of baseball, the center of admiring fans in Grant park. It was the first matched rehearsal before they appear in a game at box park Saturday for the benefit of the Tuxedo free ice and Algonquin hospital fund. The practice game, assuming at times the proportion of a grand jury hearing and at others the rush of a trench raid, went seven rounds and ended with the score tied, 2 to 2. Darkness and a deep longing for dinner brought the armistice.

Bulletins of Battle.

It may be well to follow the battle a bit. Harry Miller, shortstop for the lawyers, broke up a little family quarrel between opposing batteries by smashing out a three bag hit in the third inning. The judges objected. The crowd yelled and measurements of the hit and base line were made, while Miller sat on the third sack and jeered. The umpire, a calm and deliberate member of Chief Garvey's force, ruled it was a hit and demanded action. Clarence Darrow made a little speech to Pitcher Scanlan, selected the biggest bat on the lot and topped the first one over, sacrificing for Miller's score. District Attorney Clyne found the hitting contagious and lined a warm one past the left ear of Judge Trude at second. He reached first base while the judges juggled the ball in center field. Another single by State's Attorney Hoynes and a clean hit over second by Ald. Guernsey, scored first; Clyne and Hoynes, third; Miller and Melville, shortstop; De Stefano and A. Meyer, left field; F. W. Hoyt, center field; Eitelson and Thomas, right field; Judges—Dolan and Foell, catchers; Scanlan and Sabath, pitchers; Pam and Scully, first base; Trude and Carpenter, second base; Tutill and Benzano, third base; Horner and McGorty, shortstop; Crowe and Finnegan, left field; Hebel and Devine, center field; Zeman and Darby, right field.

Hardy tutors of the city council sent scouts to Grant park yesterday. The aldermanic emissaries watched the game for a while, then announced to the world the aldermen's team can and will beat the winners of next Saturday's game, or a combination nine made of the two legal camps. It is probable the challenge will be accepted.

Three Judges in a Row. The judges, after their disastrous activities in the field went on one, two, three, as they faced Borrelli in the fourth. In the fifth, Judge Horner put Borrelli in the hole and hit the last ball pitched for two bases, scoring when the lawyers missed to miss Judge Zeman's fly to center field. In the seventh inning, with two men out, Judge Pam reached second on a high fly to right field and was driven home by Judge Trude. Both forces hobbled to automobiles after the game, vowing the tie will be broken today in what may be the last practice game before Saturday's match.

Here is the line-up for the feature contest:

Lawyers—Litzinger and Standidge, catchers; Borrelli, pitcher; Clarence Darrow and Ald. Guernsey, first; Boettius Sullivan and J. D. Black, second; Clyne and Hoynes, third; Miller and Melville, shortstop; De Stefano and A. Meyer, left field; F. W. Hoyt, center field; Eitelson and Thomas, right field; Judges—Dolan and Foell, catchers; Scanlan and Sabath, pitchers; Pam and Scully, first base; Trude and Carpenter, second base; Tutill and Benzano, third base; Horner and McGorty, shortstop; Crowe and Finnegan, left field; Hebel and Devine, center field; Zeman and Darby, right field.

A new Cooking Synonym!

Due to the shortage of paper, few cook books have been published lately. Perhaps that's why recipes still continue to call for "shortening" instead of "COVO". If you want to learn how deliciously COVO—the new blend of nut and vegetable oils—takes the place of all shortening, try this COVO Cookie recipe. The woman who originated it loves children—and hers certainly love these cookies.

COVO NUT COOKIES

|----------------|---------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1 cup molasses | 1/2 level teaspoon salt | 3/4 cup cold water |
| 1/2 cup COVO | 1 level tablespoon ginger | 3 to 4 cups flour |
| 1/2 cup sugar | 1/2 level teaspoon soda | 3/4 cup broken walnut meats |

Heat molasses and pour over COVO. Blend well. Add sugar, salt and ginger. Dissolve soda in the cold water and add to first mixture. Stir in flour, making a soft dough to be dropped from spoon or rolled and cut as preferred. Add walnut meats last. Bake in moderate oven.

If you have ever tasted a salad at the Waldorf in New York you will agree that they certainly must know something about fine salad oils. Moniaus Panchard, chef supreme of the Waldorf and other famous hotels, endorses COVO. Try COVO in your salad dressing recipes. See if you don't get Waldorf results at home.

IN THE TRIBUNE

To Governor Frank O. Lowden and the People of Illinois

Senate Bill No. 130, entitled "An Act To Restrict the Manufacture, Possession and Use of Intoxicating Liquor Within Prohibition Territory," has been approved by both branches of the Illinois Legislature. This measure is now before you, Governor Lowden, for either your approval or veto.

The People Are Just Now Waking Up

The people of Illinois had not read and did not understand the bill. They are now amazed that this measure, with its infamous provisions relating to SEARCH and SEIZURE, and CRIMINAL NUISANCES was carried through the Legislature of our State.

The Prophecy

Only a little more than two months ago the Trades Union Liberty League, supported by more than two hundred affiliated Trade Union organizations, with a membership exceeding ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND wage earners, importuned the men and women voters of Chicago to record at the polls their disapproval of prohibition and all its attendant evils such as SEARCH and SEIZURE and CRIMINAL NUISANCES. It was pointed out to the voters that human rights of the most elementary character were about to be attacked under the guise of reform. It was forecast that the home was no longer to be held a place sacred and apart; that the organized prohibition forces intended asking for legislation through the exercise of which SEARCH WARRANTS might be issued on the shallow pretext of "just and reasonable grounds" to believe that a prohibitory law was being violated and that, armed with these warrants, maliciously disposed persons and zealot crusaders could make entry into private homes, either by day or night to SEARCH for and SEIZE a pitcher of beer or a bottle of wine.

Prophecy Fulfilled

Through the Legislature's approval of Senate Bill No. 130 the prophecy of the Trades Union Liberty League has been entirely fulfilled. If this measure receives your approval, Governor Lowden, we sincerely believe the men and women of our commonwealth will be made criminals in the exercise of their personal liberty and the home will no longer be a place where decent citizens may rest in safety nor be immune from pernicious molestation. Moreover, under the provisions of this act the USE "IN ANY QUANTITY WHATSOEVER" of any kind of beverage having more than 1/2 of one per cent of alcoholic contents is made a crime.

Chicago's Rebuke to Fanaticism

Never in the history of Illinois did the voters remonstrate with more clearness and greater emphasis than on April 1st, when, through the ballot, the men and women of Chicago voted by a majority exceeding 250,000 against prohibition and all of its following tyrannies.

Notwithstanding this dissent of the voters, the Illinois Legislature, for reasons most inexplicable, not only voted "bone dry" prohibition upon our city and the entire state, but also meekly yielded to having imposed upon the people a puritanical enforcement measure of the most vicious and arbitrary character.

By the very words of Section 15 of the Search and Seizure Bill "all places" which includes your dwelling house, your home, your residence are expressly made criminal nuisances, and you are subject to fine and imprisonment if you take a drink in such dwelling house, home or residence of any beverage that has more than one-half of one per cent of alcoholic contents. This bill if it becomes a law will destroy every fundamental American principle that has heretofore protected the American home.

The People Have Not Yet Been Defeated

We look to you, Governor Lowden, as champion of the principles dear to the hearts of every citizen, to defend the people in their right to be secure from trespass and molestation in their homes.

Why the Search and Seizure Bill Should Be Vetoed

The measure objected to has no parallel in the history of legislation of Illinois. It destroys the sanctity and security of the home and violates fundamental principles of American liberty.

Under the provisions of the proposed act it becomes unlawful to drink intoxicants of any sort, unlawful to transport them from one point of residence to another, unlawful to serve the same to a guest in "any quantity whatsoever." Surely there is no sentiment approving such extremities.

Contrary to the frantic assurances of the agents of the Anti-Saloon League that the search and seizure features of their enforcement act preclude the possibility of unreasonable search of private homes, the language of the bill itself is so subtly and adroitly composed that outrageous abuses of the most flagrant character will surely result under its provisions.

The complaint for search warrants is so loosely drawn and omissions for safeguarding the home against possible abuse of the spirit of the law are so conspicuous, that it would be easily possible for unscrupulous persons to conspire with petty law officers for the promiscuous search of any place either during the day or night. In commenting upon this defect in the bill Chief Justice Harry Olson, of the Municipal Court an admitted friend of prohibition said publicly on June 9th (in The Chicago Tribune) "It may seem strange that the Legislature would permit the raiding of any home on such a small showing as is contained in the language 'just and reasonable grounds to believe.' I can see in this provision many abuses and much turmoil." To subject the homes of our state to so great a menace would be nothing short of criminal.

Section 15 of the Act provides that "all places," (which means residences, homes, dwellings, flats, apartments, hotels, and all other places) where any intoxicating liquor is manufactured, kept for sale, used (which means consumed) or in any manner disposed of are "common nuisances." Chief Justice Olson says: "this is of course a very drastic provision in the law. Not only is the place a 'common nuisance,' but all the implements and furniture in the place are made common nuisances and are subject to seizure, confiscation and destruction and the householder is made a criminal and punished by fine and imprisonment."

Should this bill become a law, it is certain that a system of espionage will be developed that will place every citizen of Illinois at the mercy of the spy, the eavesdropper and the blackmailer.

We warn you, Governor Lowden, to consider carefully how designing and unprincipled persons may for political, blackmailing and disreputable purposes, destroy not only the homes but the reputations of the citizens of this State, whether those citizens be wage earners, or officers of unions, or capitalists or officers of big corporations.

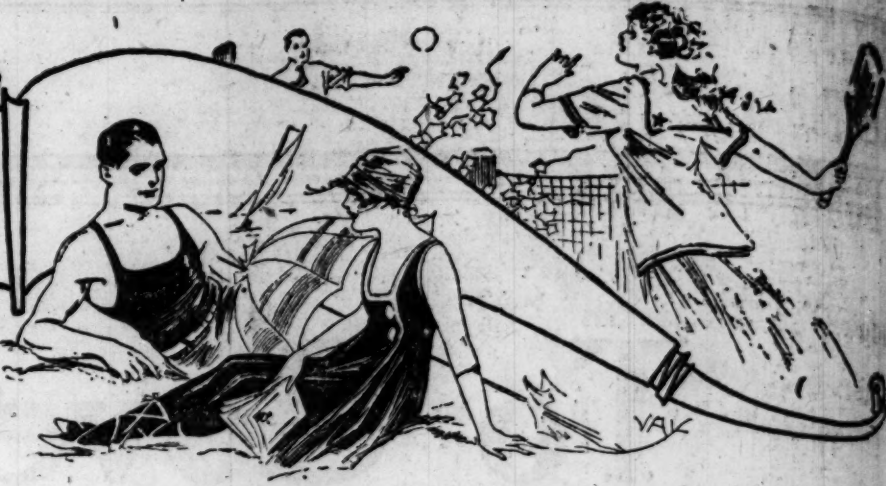

We take the liberty, Governor Lowden, of reiterating our belief that this bill strikes at the liberties of the people and threatens the security and privacy of the home. We therefore ask you to veto this measure so as to protect the citizens and homes of Illinois from this unreasonable, unnecessary and dangerous Legislation.

TEAM WORK OF CUBS SPELLS FINISH OF PHILLIES, 6 TO 3

QUICKERS POUND THE BALL FOR 20 BASES AND LOSE

Nobody Is on Base When Hendrix Becomes Generous.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Concentration of effort spelled victory for the Cubs yesterday in the first game of their series with the Phillies. Although outbatted by a fair margin they won the game, 6 to 3, by doing most of their business in the first inning.

George Smith was the receiver general and what the Mitchell did to him was plenty. Ten of them faced him in the first round and seven of them swatted the ball on the nose. Smith soaked one of them in the back trying to get even, and the battle might have lasted longer if McCabe had not run into Killdeer's rap, retiring him automatically.

That opening attack netted five runs and gave Claude Hendrix a fairly soft job. He needed the runs, however, for the Phillies hammered him for thirteen safeties and a total of twenty bases. But when his meat runs Claude was stung as a rule. For instance, Williams made three hits on the old home grounds, but there was nobody on base when any of them happened, so the only one that counted at all was the four bouncer.

Luders has brainstorm. The support given all pitchers was first and perfect and included a couple of double plays by the Cubs. One of these was a freak due to an apparent brainstorm in Luders' dome. It was the third round and the Phils had men on second and first, with one out. Cravath popped a foul to Killdeer, 'twist home and third and unquestionably foul. Luders ran down to second on it so far that he was doubled up. At that he would have been safe because Merkle muffed Killdeer's throw, but the runner's brakes failed to work and he overran the bag. Merkle recovered the ball in time to tag him out.

Watson yielded only one tally in the seven innings he pitched and Hendrix drove that home himself. The mule had such good control his curve ball the Cubs wouldn't believe it and he kicked himself out of third strike. Barber finished the right fielding.

McCabe Scores Three. The Phils popped on Hendrix for a run in the opener. Meusel mauled a double to right, with two out. Luders walked and Cravath scored Meusel with a single to center. The Cubs made that lone tally fall in their half. Flick singled a hit out. Mann dumped a bouncer to Smith, trying to duck away from the ball, and was thrown out. Merkle singled, scoring Flick, and Jackson went to third. Then Rieber hit the knockout punch. It was a drive down the right foul line to the fence for three bases, sending both Jackson and Gandil home.

Watson Stops Cubs. Off Watson the Cubs made only four more hits, but they scored in the third on a pass to McCabe, Killdeer's out, and a single by Hendrix. Doubles by Baird and Cady counted one for the Phils in the third and Williams' home run into Sheffield avenue gave them the third tally in the seventh. Whitted suited for Watson at bat in the ninth and led with a single, but Pearce and Williams popped out. Meusel singled and Luders rolled the side out.

CICOTTE AND MATES HEAP DEFEAT UPON RED SOX GANG, 5-3

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.
Boston, Mass., June 10.—[Special.]—With the inimitable Eddie Cicotte on the slab, the White Sox raked a victory from the Red Sox, 5 to 3, and still lead the league. Eddie had to do some tall and fancy hurling to win, but was equal to the task.

In the seventh inning the red hosed boys landed on him with apparently premeditated fury and drove home a couple of runners that knocked the count at three apiece. However, Eddie's states immediately went out and knocked in two more tallies, which put the ball game on ice.

Eleven Wins for Cicotte. It was the eleventh victory of the season for Cicotte and his seventh straight win. People are wondering how he does it, but those who saw him labor in a few tight places today decided he did it with a strong right arm and an active brain, which is a winning combination in any league.

A mighty swat by Swede Rieber in the eighth was the deciding and knockout blow of the battle. Babe Ruth, swatting hurler, was on the rubber for Boston and had bad support. Gleason's boys didn't earn any runs off him in seven rounds, but errors had given them three.

The Red Sox were given a tally in the first and earned two in the seventh, tying it up, and then the White Sox did regular business.

Gen. Joe Starts It. With one out in the eighth, Jackson poled safely to right for one base. Fleck lined fiercely to center, but Strunk robbed him of a hit by making a great diving catch. Gandil punched safely to right and Jackson went to third. Then Rieber hit the knockout punch. It was a drive down the right foul line to the fence for three bases, sending both Jackson and Gandil home.

Watson Stops Cubs. Off Watson the Cubs made only four more hits, but they scored in the third on a pass to McCabe, Killdeer's out, and a single by Hendrix.

Doubles by Baird and Cady counted one for the Phils in the third and Williams' home run into Sheffield avenue gave them the third tally in the seventh. Whitted suited for Watson at bat in the ninth and led with a single, but Pearce and Williams popped out. Meusel singled and Luders rolled the side out.

ERRORS GIVE INDIANS SCALPS OF SENATORS; FAN PUNCHES UMPIRE

Washington, D. C., June 10.—Errors behind Shaw enabled Cleveland to defeat Washington in the opening game of the series, 3 to 2. For protesting a close decision in the seventh, Manager Griffith was ordered off the field by Umpire Nallin, who later was made a target for seat cushions and pop bottles. McBride of the Washington club was slightly out on the face by a piece of flying glass. After the game Umpire Nallin was struck by an iron fan.

TRACTION BILLS WINS FIRST STEP AFTER HOT FIGHT

Attempt by Utilities Committee to Kill Measures Fails.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—[Special.]—Chicago's traction bills got to the first station on their road to passage today—but only after a warm fight in the Illinois house.

The house utilities committee attempted to kill them. By a vote of 18 to 2 it sent the bills to the conference with the recommendation that they be not passed.

Michael Ignotz, Democratic floor leader, jumped up, crying out against the action of the committee, and Representative Dahlberg went to his aid. These two, after a time, succeeded in bringing seventy-one others to the way of thinking, and by a vote of 73 to 43 the bills went on the calendar.

Call for Referendum.

Each of the traction bills has clauses calling for a referendum. Ignotz pointed this out.

"The city council, which represents the people of Chicago, has asked us to pass these measures," he said. "We are not asked to make them law, but only to give the people who are interested in them a chance to vote on them."

"Nobody has any right to kill any one of these bills in committee; to another it before the house has a chance even to consider them."

Le O'Neill, however, spoke for the committee. Dahlberg demanded a vote of nonconcurrence in the committee's recommendation. Representative Gorman of Peoria moved that Dahlberg's motion be laid on the table. Then the vote was taken.

Prolonged Scrap Expected.

Some representatives, following the roll call pointed out that the vote for the bills was only four short of enough to pass them. It was suggested on the other hand that there was no effort made in committee to go into the details or the technique of the measures, and nobody really knows what is in any of the bills. Forecasts, certainly, a prolonged discussion, if the bills are called on second reading in the house. The forecast from the senate side is that there will be prolonged investigation of the measures, if they ever get over to the upper house.

STATE TAX BOARD DEAD

The state board of equalization, which has been in charge of making assessments in Illinois for many years, passes into history July 1. Gov. Lowden's bill to abolish the board passed the house today without a ripple of excitement by the vote of 107-19, and the companion measure, defining the powers of the new tax commission, received 105 votes, with nineteen members opposing it.

The administration measure will now go to the state senate for concurrence in house amendments, the most important of which is creating the office of statistician, to serve at a salary of $4,000 a year. The two bills were called by Representative Young of Chicago, chairman of the revenue committee. His explanation was brief, and the roll call began. Representative Miller of Champaign, in explaining his vote, said that he is convinced that the board should go out of existence and voted in the affirmative.

The Nineteen Negative Votes.

ONE VOTE BEATS BILL TO ENFORCE LIQUOR SEIZURE

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—[Special.]—The Anti-Saloon League of Illinois lost its fight in the house committee on appropriations by one vote, to provide for the necessary machinery to enforce the search and seizure bill that is awaiting final executive action by Gov. Lowden.

The vote was 20 to 19 to kill the bill. The bill would have appropriated $50,000 to the office of the attorney general as a special fund, to put machinery into operation on July 1, to enforce the proposed home dry legislation. It is hardly probable that an effort will be made to battle the house committee's recommendation when it reaches the floor of the house.

The senate at the same time was advancing to this reading, an identical bill offered by Senator Sadler, that is likely to be passed tomorrow, and then to the bill upon which the house will be premised. The original idea of the league was to create a special department headed by a prohibition commissioner, to have the power of enforcement. This was defeated on its passage, and the proposal was then made to give the attorney general a fund to start an organization of his own to do the job.

'GOOD-BY, DEARIE, YOU'RE TOO SLOW,' AND FLORA FLITS

But There's a Tale of Cabarets, and Men, and Everything.

"Goodby, dearie, you're too slow for me. I can't stand you. I'm going away. Don't look for me—you couldn't catch up with me anyway."

Which is the fond farewell speech made by Mrs. Flora Greer McGowan, who she left her husband, William, to paddle her own canoe. She has been a clock model before she became a wife, and she guessed she could get along.

A Little Motor Trip.

Sunday Mrs. McGowan came to her father-in-law's garage, with Mrs. Edith Edwards of Houston, Tex., wife of Lieut. J. K. Edwards of the 31st motor corps in France, and a man she introduced as "Edith's friend."

She wanted to rent a big car. She asked that the auto be sent to the Morrison hotel at 9 o'clock that night. It was, James Jr. drove it.

Mrs. McGowan introduced Mrs. Edwards, her sister, Mrs. Aileen Thompson, and two men, and the car started on the cabaret trail. It got back to the Morrison early in the morning.

"Hold my bag, Jimmy dear," said Flora, "and I'll go in and write you a check."

Jimmy, dear, waited an hour. Then he tried to find Flora. He couldn't. He went home and told James Sr. about it. They thought they'd seen the last of Flora, and put the $38 down to profit and loss.

And Flora Repeats.

But Flora called up Monday night and wanted the car again. She apologized about the bill, but she'd make it all right. So James Jr. went down to the Morrison again.

Flora and Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Thompson were waiting and two men, described as Harry King and Ralph Shaffer. Not the same two Jimmy had seen the night before. One of them, "Mr. Shaffer," gave him $10.

"Take that on account," said he. "Don't know anything about the trouble last night, but we'll straighten it all out when we're through tonight. Let's go."

They went. To the cabarets. And when they were coming back, Mr. Shaffer, who'd been to Jimmy's head, and then he hit Jimmy in the jaw and knocked him out of the car. And the car went on.

Then She Disappears.

Yesterday Detectives Knowles and Meacham, of the Austin station found Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Thompson in the Morrison. Flora had fitted. The women said they had been robbed by Mr. Shaffer. Mr. Edwards lost $25 and $1,200 in jewelry. The men made them get out of the auto and walk to town.

They had reported the robbery to the police, but as soon as they had got into town, they said. The detectives found this to be true. The sisters had met Mrs. McGowan in Houston some about her, but thought she was "real nice" to entertain them. They didn't know the men, either. Mrs. McGowan said they were "friends."

They, too, would like to find Flora. Meanwhile the police lean to the frame-up theory.

Railroad Detective Shot in the Hip by a Holdup

Joseph La Bell, 58 years old, 12413 South State street, a railroad detective, while on his way home early this morning was attacked and shot in the hip by a colored holdup within a few doors of his home.

The holdup jumped from a shadow and commanded La Bell to throw up his hands. La Bell began slowly to raise them and made a grab for the gun. He got hold of it, and in the struggle the gun was shot off five times. Only one bullet took effect.

La Bell emptied his gun at the fleeing thief, but did not hit him.

Coroner Blames Open Crossing for Two Deaths

Coroner Peter M. Hoffman severely criticized the crossing arrangements of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Electric railroad at Melrose avenue, Kenilworth, yesterday at an inquest into the deaths of Mrs. Frank W. Coolidge and Mrs. R. R. Gilke, who were killed by a train at that point Sunday night.

The senate at the same time was advancing to this reading, an identical bill offered by Senator Sadler, that is likely to be passed tomorrow, and then to the bill upon which the house will be premised. The original idea of the league was to create a special department headed by a prohibition commissioner, to have the power of enforcement. This was defeated on its passage, and the proposal was then made to give the attorney general a fund to start an organization of his own to do the job.

AGREEMENT ON BOND AND TAX BILLS HELD UP

Downstate Fights Lowden Plan; Demands Larger State School Fund.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—[Special.]—Thirty minutes after a complete working agreement had been reached between Gov. Lowden, the two branches of the legislature, and the Chicago taxing interests, whereby all taxing and bond bills would have been passed without trouble, the arrangement was seriously imperiled, if not put out of commission.

The trouble was started at the last minute by downstate legislators, who precipitated a fight for an increase in the state school distributable fund from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000. The earlier agreement, forming a basis for the raising of the tax rates of Chicago and the downstate cities, of Cook county, had been reached on the theory that $6,000,000 would be the figure for the state fund, a part of which is returned directly to the Chicago school system.

Omnibus Bill Tied Up.

Upon the six million figure, carried as a direct appropriation in the omnibus bill, is premised the aggregate appropriation of $2,000,000 for all state and school purposes, and a continuation of the 75 cent tax rate.

In a final conference this afternoon between Gov. Lowden, Speaker Shanahan, Senator S. A. Etelson, and Director of Public Works Frank I. Bennett, a tentative agreement had been reached whereby the rates were adjusted satisfactorily, the Chicago bond bills were to be passed and the session was to wind up without trouble.

Agreement on Tax Rates.

The agreement as to the tax rates was this: The Chicago city rate was to be fixed at $2.15.

The Chicago board of education rate was made $1.80. The Cook county rate was made 53 cents, with 4 cents additional, outside of the tax for the mothers' pension fund, making a net increase of 12 cents.

The downstate city rate to be $2, with the necessity removed for a referendum vote to make it optional. The south park rate was fixed at 15 cents.

The state distributable fund was to be $6,000,000.

Senate Advances Bond Bills.

Everybody thought the biggest difficulty of the session had been settled amicably. The senate buckled down and advanced to third reading thirty-two more of the Glavin bond bills and made all arrangements to work for six hours continuously tomorrow in calling the roll to pass the bunch of seventy-two necessary to do the job.

Representative Smekal, chairman of the house appropriations committee, called up the tax levy bill that calls for $18,000,000 for the general fund and $6,000,000 for the school fund. Representative Thurston, Democrat, of Clay county, moved to make the school item $8,000,000, and the fight was on.

Representative Shortridge, representing the administration, made the motion to table the Thurston amendment, and on a roll call the administration and the house organization took their first defeat of the session.

Before the result was announced Representative Smekal moved that consideration be postponed. The opposition forced another roll call on this. The organization leaders got busy and the Smekal motion to postpone prevailed by a vote of 69 to 57. There the matter rests until tomorrow.

Drainage Board Inquiry Pushed in Legislature

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—[Special.]—Legislative investigation of the sanitary district of Chicago is proposed in a bill introduced tonight in the house by Representative Lee O'Neill of Ottawa. On a fight, the bill was placed on the calendar on second reading by a vote of 100 to 31. The opposition insisted that the bill should be referred to the waterways committee.

The Browns bill appropriates $10,000 for the expenses of an investigation, to be conducted by five senators and five representatives, the report to be made to the next general assembly.

MAJ. ARMSTRONG, CHICAGO DOCTOR, DIES IN PALESTINE

A cablegram from Paris to THE TRIBUNE last night told of the death of Maj. Edward Kent Armstrong, a Chicago physician. Dispatches to the Red Cross in Paris from Palestine, where the major was working, give no details as to the manner of death, except that it was accidental.

Dr. Armstrong reported in Paris April 18 and was assigned to duty in France. Later he was transferred to the holy land. He was engaged in the repatriation of families and children in the devastated areas.

Maj. Armstrong, previous to his departure, lived at 5501 Prairie avenue. After he left for France his family moved to Cape May, N. J.

THREAT AND SHOT MARK ACQUITTAL OF STEVE MAGGIO

Threats against the prosecutor and gunplay against the state's witnesses were eleven hour features in the trial of Steve Maggio, who was acquitted of murder in Judge Thomas G. Windes' court by a jury yesterday.

Assistant State's Attorney Eugene McGarry of 622 York place went home after making his closing address to the jury Monday night. He had demanded the death penalty for Maggio. At 9 o'clock the telephone rang and McGarry answered it.

"Say, you McGarry," said a rasping voice over the wire. "If Steve Maggio is convicted we'll grab off one of your kids."

"Who are you?" demanded McGarry, and the other person hung up the receiver.

About the same time John Cambossa was standing in his store at 1028 Grand avenue talking to Mike Abenanti and his wife, Rose. The three were state's witnesses against Maggio.

A shot rang out, there was a crash of glass, and a bullet lodged in the woodwork directly over their heads.

Following the report of this yesterday morning after the jury had acquitted Maggio, state's attorney's detectives were put to work on the case.

Maggio was twice tried for the murder of Gus Lanero of 1655 Washington boulevard. In the first case the jury disagreed. It was alleged by the state that Maggio and one Frank De Palma fired into a crowd at May street and Grand avenue last July, wounding five persons and killing Lanero. De Palma was released on $5,000 bonds and is now a fugitive.

Con. Leonard Wood will sound the convention keynote. Gov. Lowden is also on the program and Col. Kelly of the famous 149th artillery of the Rainbow regiment is down for a talk. Steps will be taken towards bringing about an amalgamation of the World War Veterans and the American Legion.

24 BANK CLERKS START A UNION; IT'S VERY SECRET

Hist—can you keep a secret? The bank clerks are organizing! Really and truly they are. The idea is to get a union and demand more money, but if the bankers find it out—

Twenty-four bank clerks met behind closed doors in the rooms of the waiters' association, 115 West Madison street, last night. They were a party, of course, that there were spies present. But the clerks went courageously ahead.

Ten of them volunteered to help William I. Bost, the promoter, to apply for a charter from the American Federation of Labor, and chipped in $1 apiece. Then the ceremony was over.

"Say, you McGarry," said a rasping voice over the wire. "If Steve Maggio is convicted we'll grab off one of your kids."

"Who are you?" demanded McGarry, and the other person hung up the receiver.

Jury Blames "Q" Road for Six Deaths in Auto

A coroner's jury yesterday held the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy rail road responsible for the deaths of the six persons killed by a train in Berwyn on Monday. It recommended the city council investigate and draft an ordinance permitting the law to be violated. In his report Quayle charges the hotel and resort keepers at Fox Lake are permitting improper revelry at Marie's place and games of chance at Emil Kappola's place. They indicate they will investigate with a view to ascertaining whether Sheriff Elmer J. Green is permitting the law to be violated. CIVILIAN GIVES COPS LESSON IN POLICE WORK

James H. Markham, chief clerk of the detective bureau, has taught some of the sleuths at the detective bureau how to get convictions in the cases of pickpockets.

The general rule is this: When the case comes up the pickpocket gets a continuance. Sometimes he gets eight or nine, or twenty. As soon as he finds out the name of the complainant he tries to bargain with him not to prosecute.

The professional pickpocket is the worst, slickest of them all. And Markham knew it. So when he arrested Albert Howard of 3742 Indiana avenue, the other day, he didn't record the name of the complainant, Peter Douglas of 2361 South State street.

When the case came before Judge Hugh Stewart yesterday Howard asked for a continuance. Markham opposed it bitterly, saying Douglas was a workman. He would lose a day's pay every time he came to court. He couldn't afford it. The judge saw his way. He fined Howard $1 and costs and then sentenced him to a year in the bridewell.

There hasn't been a pickpocket sentenced in a long time—so it created quite a stir at the detective bureau.

Tales of Fox Lake Rouse Lake County Supervisors

Waukegan, Ill., June 10.—[Special.]—Lake county supervisors who met at Waukegan today came stirred over the charges made by Thomas R. Quayle, Lake Forest, secretary of the Lake County Law and Order league, that hotel and resort keepers at Fox Lake are permitting improper revelry at Marie's place and games of chance at Emil Kappola's place. They indicate they will investigate with a view to ascertaining whether Sheriff Elmer J. Green is permitting the law to be violated. HE HAD 30 GIRLS, WIFE'S PROTEST

Mrs. Henrietta Louder, 2459 Haddon avenue, tossed a bunch of pink and blue and lavender letters to Judge Fry. Some of them were replete with exquisite perfumes.

"He," she said, speaking of her husband, Henry, who has just come back from the war—the other war—"he had thirty girls when he was in the service. That's where his money went. And he spent $40 for a new uniform so he'd look nifty to the girls when he got home."

Louder had been arrested at 2032 Flournoy street, where also lives Helen Barge. He said Helen was just a friend who had bought him a meal ticket.

"But," said his wife, "when the police came after you you said she was your sister, and was going to the Carl Schurz high school."

Judge Fry, having perused some of the scented letters, signed by various feminine names, said he'd hear more of the case today.

PHONE MARKETING TOUR SHOWS WIDE VARIETY OF PRICES

HERE are the prices that Mrs. Jones jotted down in her notebook after a strenuous day of shopping by phone at different groceries and meat markets in the city. She says it's puzzling. Believe her: Porkhouse steak—55, 65, 60, and 70 cents a pound.

Bacon—50, 65, 67, and 70 cents. Loin of pork—58, 40, and 42 cents. Round steak—40, 45, and 48 cents. Butter—57 and 58 cents. Coffee—Best grade, 40 cents. Tea—Best grade, 40 cents. Canned peas—25 to 30 cents a can; cheaper in quantity. This applies to all canned goods. Canned corn—25 to 30 cents. Tomatoes—18 to 30 cents. String beans, very scarce—30, 35, 36, and 40 cents.

Corrmeal—5 cents a pound in bulk. Two pound package 15 cents. Navy Beans—15, 19 1/2, and 15 cents a pound.

FSST! GRR-RR!

The Author Was Off'n the Idle Rich When He Wrote This.

By Mae Tines.

OSMO HAMILTON, who wrote the story, was off'n the idle ways of the idle rich when he took his pen in hand. He may not have been losing heavily at bridge, and no woman may have done him wrong and he may not have had a morning after headache. But when he wrote "Men, Women and Money" he was off'n the idle ways of the idle rich!

So he took a beautiful blonde whom he introduced as "the helpless product of a fashionable finishing school" and located her in a humble home of a town possessing probably not more than twenty thousand inhabitants and gave her a lovely and devoted father and mother. Those dear old folk always saved the tenderloin for their Marcel, father spent his substance on graceful gowns for daughter and mother sent her "to the dining room where you belong. I won't have you standing over this hot stove, dearie."

When Marcel received an invitation to go east to visit a friend in society, Mr. Hamilton ruthlessly made the old folks mortgage their home in order that her wish might be gratified.

Once he gets his fair heroine in the east the author cuts loose. Misery, misère! Her parents die; her friends turn catty and the men she meets—my dear, you never saw such men! They're a bunch of howling cynics who, after the manner of the devil, go about like lions seeing whom they may devour and pay bills for without the formality of marriage. One of these, Mr. Lew Cody, just doesn't believe there is such a thing as an unsophisticated and decent girl until Marcel shows him.

But she shows him! Having learned a lesson herself, she gives him one. And, of course, then he never rests till he rescues her from her penury and persuades her to marry him and his millions. Yes, he was worth teaching. From the standpoint of production and acting the picture is excellent. Nothing could be more beautiful than Miss Clayton. Nothing could be sweeter than Lew Cody, hand on heart, admitting wrong and begging forgiveness. But the story isn't much, after all.

I do beg of you, after commending the other sterling actors, to cast your eye on that Zazu Pitts. There is somebody who is going to up and surprise us all some day! I told you that once before. I stick to it.

THE AUTHOR'S IDEA OF THE IDLE RICH.

A Friend in Need
Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friend in need and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some one's fortune and I shall be only too glad to be of service to you. When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to "The Tribune," but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

Could Use a Bicycle.

"We are two girls and anxious to get hold of a bicycle, as we want to go on errands for our parents and can't afford to buy it. So please try to help us and we shall be much obliged. We will be glad to pay express charges if the bicycle is sent from out of the city. HILLEN AND LUCY."

By all means you should have a bicycle for your errands. Here's promising to let you know the minute I get word from any kind reader to the effect that they have one to dispose of.

Needs a Heavy Coat.

"I am an old lady and badly in need of a heavy coat. I can't afford to buy it. Do you think any one has one to give away?
Miss E. S."

Indeed I do think that you'll have no trouble getting an old coat of some sort. And perhaps some other clothes, too.

NOTES OF SCREENDOM

Eddie Foy and the seven little Foyes will amuse Denver this summer. They're going to this western city to make two reel comedy pictures for the National Film corporation. These will be known as the Foy Fun Films.

Admirers of Elliott Dexter will be sorry to learn that he is suffering from a complete nervous breakdown, which it is said will make it impossible for him to make any more pictures for some time.

Lamar Johnston is dead. He was, you remember, connected with the William Farnum company.

Ordering Farmers' Bulletins.

This is a beg your pardon article on farmers' bulletin 861. It was a pity to get the number wrong in the case of farmers' bulletin 861, for more interest was manifested, through letters, etc., in that one bulletin than in any other mentioned in two years.

The title of farmers' bulletin 861 is "Removal of Stains from Clothing and Other Textiles." It is always safer, in sending for anything of the sort, to mention title as well as number, because some one may have given you trustworthy information. I know some one who handles farmers' bulletins all the time, who says she never mentions a number unless she has the farmers' or whatever other bulletin it is from the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., in her hand. Figures are slippery things.

A correspondent writes that she sent for farmers' bulletin 861, the number printed in this column, and got one entitled "The House Fly." I note that she was careful to say farmers' bulletin, although so many people say just bulletin. I am sorry she, and perhaps others, got farmers' bulletin 861 when they wanted 861, on the removal of stains.

There are circulating copies of farmers' bulletin 865, which contains thirty-five pages, to be had from the Chicago public library, and Miss Jessie Woodford, who is in that library who can set you right on the number and contents of any farmers' bulletin, fisheries bulletin, or any other government or state bulletin published. She has also made great effort to get circulating copies of both the free bulletins and those which have a price.

Enter the north end of the Public Library building and turn into the first room at the left.

Approve Mootie Censor Plan.

Resolutions were adopted yesterday by the Chicago Church Federation council approving a state senate bill No. 71, which provides for the creation of a state censor commission for motion pictures. The council declared it favored the state commission plan, even if the proposed legislation does not provide that Chicago shall have "home rule" on the censorship matter.

Bright Sayings
of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying related. The saying told must never have been printed in any paper or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on any side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Aunt Bee, "The Tribune," Chicago.

James was too bignacious to his mother's way of thinking. She often scolded him for getting into fights with other boys, and told him it would be better to stand a little picking on than to be fighting half the time. "One day he came home with garments soiled and torn and explained that he had been in a fight because he had refused to take a dare. After a heated argument with his mother about it, he exclaimed: "Gee whizz, mother, I shouldn't think you'd want to bring up your boy to be a coward!" C. M.

My brother, Bud, and his chum were talking together about my baby brother.

"One year old," replied Bud. "I got a dog a year old, and he can walk twice as well as that kid can."

"Well, he ought to," replied Bud. "He's got twice as many legs."

As Juanita and Charles were eating breakfast one morning, they both asked at the same moment for the second helping. Having taught Charles that his sister must be waited on first, he said, "Well, ladies first and mums next."

Resume Girls' Law Class.

The parliamentary law class of the girls' work division, war camp community service, under the direction of Mrs. George Plummer, will resume its meetings this evening at 1015 Temple building, for the last three meetings of the course. Thirty-seven girls, most of whom are officers of the various Patriotic Service leagues, have availed themselves of the opportunity which this class offers to strengthen the organization side of their work. Mrs. Plummer is state parliamentary for the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

Real Love
Stories

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? It is the idea that is wanted. No attention will be paid to literary style. "The Tribune" will pay $1 for every story published. No payment returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

According to Code.

Bessie had been a telegraph operator at a small railroad station, giving up her position when her widowed mother died, and coming to Chicago to live with her aunt.

She was reading one night, her aunt having retired, when she heard taps on the dividing wall of the next door flat, which to her great surprise proved to be the Morse telegraph alphabet. She stepped over to the center table, picked up a pair of scissors, and pounced on the wall. "Hello in there. I am lonely, start something."

Came the reply, "Ditto, who the hell are you? What must I start up?"

Bessie replied, "Don't be naughty in your language; a woman is operating this end of the line. Now be a nice girl and start a gentle chat."

Came back the reply, "Forgive my naughty word, as I have always conversed over the wire with men only, and you are the first lady ever on my wire."

Bessie forgave, and a pleasant talk was carried on between them, being repeated every time afterwards; finally a meeting, becoming warm friends, and ending in a happy marriage. S. D. M.

U. of C. Men to Go to "Y" Meet.

The University of Chicago will be represented at the annual Lake Geneva Y. M. C. A. student conference, which begins Friday and lasts until June 22. Among the prominent speakers at the conference will be Col. Raymond Robins and General Y. M. C. A. Secretary John L. Mott.

DORIS BLAKF'S

In Love with Her Teacher.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 16 and am a senior in high school. I am deeply in love with the principal of our school. He is a very attractive man of 40, and has recently lost his wife. He has wonderfully dreamy blue eyes, which always seem to have a smile for me. I am a cutup, always getting into all sorts of scrapes, but he always takes my part. How can I show him that I love him? Do you think that I will ever be able to take the place in his affections that his wife did? I know that he admires me, because I get such high marks. Do you think he admires me enough to propose to me?"

Now, now, Lotty, are you, too, falling in love with your teacher? What chance has a poor male school teacher with susceptible young maidens as sweet as blue eyes? Now, you run along and bury your head in your Virgil or your chemistry book, and let the poor widower to some one older than you, before he discovers you to be deeply in love with him.

Lotty.

Society and Entertainments

Parties to Precede Pullman-McIlvaine Wedding June 25

Miss Margaret Pullman and John H. McIlvaine, whose marriage on Wednesday, June 25, will be a smart affair, will have a number of parties given for them during the week preceding the wedding. Next Tuesday Mrs. T. Philip Smith and Miss Helen Hayne will entertain at luncheon for them at the Blackstone. And that evening Mrs. Arthur A. Burrows will give a dinner at her residence, 290 East Delaware place.

A week from Friday Miss Dorothy Derby will be hostess at a luncheon at the Arts club, and that evening Mr. and Mrs. William D. McIlvaine, parents of the bridegroom, will give a large and elegant dinner at the Saddle and Cycle club. John Wentworth will be host at dinner the following evening, Saturday, June 22. On Monday, June 23, Mrs. Edward R. Litsinger will be hostess at a luncheon at her residence, 1400 State parkway, and that evening Alexander H. Revell Jr. will entertain at a dinner at the Blackstone. Tuesday evening Mrs. William C. Pullman, mother of the bride-to-be, will entertain the bride party at dinner at the Casino. Mrs. Isabel Watkins, a cousin of Miss Pullman, will act as maid of honor and Miss Florence Lowden, Miss Helen Hayne, Miss Dorothy Derby, and Mrs. T. Philip Smith will be bridesmaids at the wedding. John Wentworth will serve Mr. McIlvaine as best man. The service will be read at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the Fourth Presbyterian church.

Miss Katharine Blossom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blossom of Hubbard Woods, who will be married to Mr. William Sutherland Bacon, son of Dr. William Sutherland Bacon, of Macomb, Ill., on Saturday, June 28, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in Christ's church, Winnetka, will have her sister-in-law, Miss George W. Blossom, Jr., for maid of honor. Serving Miss Blossom as bridesmaids will be Miss Helen Hayne, Miss Blanche Day, Miss Lollia Armour, Mrs. T. Philip Smith, Mrs. W. J. Mitchell, Mrs. Charles McAlpine, Miss Louise Thorne, Miss Janet Pauling and Miss Dorothy Bacon. William Ross Proctor, Jr., of New York will attend Mr. Bacon. Following the wedding there will be a reception at the residence of the bride's parents.

The same afternoon at 5 o'clock Miss Helen E. Dutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blake Dick, will be married to the bride of Thomas W. Swan of New Haven, Conn. The service will be read before a small gathering of relatives and friends in the residence of the bride's parents in Lake Forest. Miss Alice Beadie, a cousin of Miss Dick, will be the bride's only attendant.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Name in Swampscott, Mass., Miss Claire Dutton McGraw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McGraw of Swampscott, will be married to Charles Henderson Matz, son of Mrs. Rudolph Matz of "Wynne" Hubbard Woods. Mrs. Charles W. Henderson, mother of the bridegroom, went several days ago to be present at the wedding.

Today from 10 until 6 o'clock the session of the Henry B. Fawcett occupation school will sell the handwork of the pupils in the English room at the Blackstone. Summer porch furniture, hand-painted vases, screens and decorative objects will be among the articles on display. Mrs. William S. Monroe is chairman of the shop, which has been in existence on Lake Shore drive since the winter, and had a later and temporary abode in the Pullman building.

Application cards for boxes for the annual horse show at the South Shore Country club, to be held Thursday afternoon, Friday afternoon and evening, and Saturday afternoon, June 26, 27 and 28, were received yesterday by the members and exhibitors. The choice of the hundred and eleven boxes will be allotted in the order of receipt of applications by the club secretary, Charles C. Fitzmorris. John R. Thompson is chairman of the horse show committee. The horse show will close with a ball Saturday evening.

Mrs. Russell Tyson, Mrs. Hugh J. McHenry, and Mrs. Prentiss Connelley gave a dinner Monday night at Onondaga for Mrs. Benjamin Lathrop. Twenty-five guests were present and later heard an interesting talk by Mrs. Lathrop, who spoke in the interest of the American Memorial hospital to be built in France.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Walker have closed their apartment at 3118 Sheridan road and with their two sons, Capt. Arthur M. Walker and Wirt D. Walker, are at their summer place at Blackstone, Mass.

Announcement is made of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winchell of 200 East Delaware place. Mrs. Charles Dearing of Evanston has returned from the east, where she spent some time after leaving her husband's estate in Florida.

Mrs. Howard F. Gillette and small daughter, 1259 North State street, will leave next Tuesday for Bridgeford Pool, where they will pass the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stanley Rickard of 1215 Astor street have taken a house in Hubbard Woods for the summer.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 10.—(Special.)—The Mexican ambassador, Señor Ignacio Bonillas, entertained at dinner this evening at the embassy in honor of Gen. Candido Aguilar, governor of the state of Vera Cruz and son-in-law of President Carranza of Mexico, who has arrived in Washington on a special mission for his government.

Señora Bonillas, who has been in New York for the last six weeks, returned to Washington today.

The Spanish ambassador and Señora De Riano were the honor guests at a dinner given tonight by Mrs. James McDonald. Later in the evening Miss Clara Alexander, who has appeared before European royalties and who spent many months entertaining soldiers in camps and hospitals, gave her repertoire of "Negro" impersonations. The Serbian minister and Mme. Grouitch, who entertained at dinner in compliance with the wishes of Mrs. McDonald, and Mrs. D. Baker and Mrs. Marshall Field, who also gave a dinner party tonight, were among those who, with their guests, joined Mrs. McDonald's party after dinner to hear Miss Alexander.

STONE-MERRICK WEDDING

Miss Margery Coolidge Stone, daughter of Walter C. Stone of 5400 East View park, will become the bride of Marlowe Marshall Merrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Merrick of 4610 Drexel boulevard, this evening at 7 o'clock in the Kenwood Evangelical church. The bride's sister, Miss Mildred Stone, will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Helen Brandenburg of Chicago and Miss Melva Walbert of Middletown, O. Little Mary Louise Galefield will be the flower girl. Mr. Merrick will be attended by Frank Hayes as best man and the ushers will be Eugene Byfield, Capt. Hamilton Allport, James Lincoln of Minneapolis, and Frank Vering. A reception at the South Shore Country club will follow the wedding. The couple will live at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

The marriage of Miss Lucile Gearhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gearhart of 3728 Sheridan road, to James J. O'Connor, will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock at St. Mary's of the Lake church. The service will be read by Mr. Herd of Duquesne, Pa., who officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents. Mrs. Clarence Erickson and Miss Elaine McCarr will attend the bride, and Martin J. O'Connor will be best man for the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Marshall of 945 Garfield avenue announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Esther, to Irving M. Tuteur, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Tuteur of La Crosse, Wis. The wedding will take place June 20 and will be followed by a reception at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gwin Carter of 1229 Jarvis avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to John P. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett Lewis of Lebanon, N. H. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

The engagement is announced of Miss Ruth Mary Dougherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Dougherty, to Lieut. Robert Emerson Mulroy of New York city. No date has been set for the wedding.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, June 10.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtis James have closed their city home at 39 East Sixty-ninth street and have gone to Newport, where they are occupying Beacon Hill, their country place, for the summer.

Mrs. Charles D. Dickey of 37 East Fifty-first street will leave her country place at Beacon Hill, N. Y., and together with her son and daughter-in-law, will go to North East Harbor, Me., for the summer.

Frederic P. Penfield, former ambassador to Austria, and Mrs. Penfield have closed their houses in New York and Pennsylvania and have gone to Alexandria Bay, N. Y., for the summer.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Jeanne McGarthy, daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. C. McGarthy of Glen Ridge, N. J., to Capt. Robert Campbell Van Vleet Jr.

Miss Jane Remsen Thompson, daughter of Mrs. J. Todhunter Thompson, was married to Carl H. Schmitt of this city Tuesday afternoon in the home of her mother, 10 East Seventy-eighth street. It was a quiet wedding and only the members of the two families witnessed the marriage ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. W. N. Webb of Great River, L. I.

Purdue Alumni Get $850 from Geo. Ade

Lafayette, Ind., June 10.—(Special.)—Amid wild cheers for "the new Purdue republic," 500 members of the Purdue University Alumni association at its annual meeting today effected a reorganization on a new basis of cooperation with the university authorities and will demand a voice in the formulation of the university's athletic policies and other matters affecting the institution.

Sustaining and life memberships in the association were announced off, bringing from $25 to $500 each. George Ade, Purdue, 1887, paid $500 for his sustaining membership and Dean Carolyn Shoemaker of the college of women paid $685 for another.

The alumni voted to confer with the student council relative to the erection of a student union building to serve as a memorial to Purdue men who died in the war.

C. W. Morey of Chicago, class of 1897, was reflected president of the association.

372 Degrees Are Granted at U of C's 111th Convocation

Soldier khaki blended with the scholastic cap and gown in the one hundred and eleventh convocation of the University of Chicago yesterday, when sixty-nine degrees were conferred upon Maroon war veterans who have returned from the service. The returned soldiers wore their uniforms. The total number of degrees, titles and certificates granted was 372.

In the field of Arts, Literature, and Science, 214 students were granted the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Philosophy, or Science; in the College of Commerce and Administration, 11 received the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy; and in the College of Education, 31 the degree of Bachelor in Education, making a total of 256 in the college. Sixteen students received the two year certificate of the School of Education, and one the title of Associate.

In the Divinity school, 16 students received the Master's degree, 4 that of Bachelor of Divinity, and 1 that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the law school there were 3 degrees for Bachelor of Laws, and 16 for that of Doctor of Law. In the graduate schools of Arts, Literature, and Science, 45 students received the Master's degree, and 14 the Doctorate.

Among the graduating students were about thirty foreign born, representing China, Sweden, Lithuania, England, Canada, the Philippine Islands, Germany, Austria, Nova Scotia, Wales, Bohemia, Russia, and Roumania.

ECHOES

The first Chicago military funeral of a soldier killed in the great war will be held June 18 when Private Robert Houlihan will be buried by his comrades of the 124th field artillery. Col. Milton J. Foreman, Capt. Marshall Field and other officers of the regiment will be in the guard of honor. The entire 124th will march to Calvary cemetery. Houlihan, a son of Mrs. J. Houlihan, a lawyer, died of pneumonia in France, after the fighting in the Argonne. His father went to Europe and succeeded in obtaining permission to bring the body home.

Lionel Greenberg, Hyde Park High school student and cadet in the junior reserve officers' training corps, who was killed Sunday when he collided with an automobile while riding his bicycle, was given a military funeral yesterday afternoon by the cadets of the Hyde Park High school.

The first post-bellum meeting of the Argonne-Meuse club will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Knights of Columbus chapter hall, 16 West Madison street.

Relatives of Chicago fighting men in Siberia, making up the original auxiliary of the 27th infantry regiment, will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in Washington hall, Fraternity Hall building, 19 West Adams street. Plans for the homecoming of the 27th will be made.

Four hundred enthusiastic home folks launched plans last night for a grand ball and entertainment, to be held Friday evening, June 20, at the municipal pier, for the benefit of the 31th engineers homecoming fund.

OBITUARY.

MRS. O'HARE DIES; MICHIGAN AVE.'S OLDEST RESIDENT

Mrs. Mary Hoops O'Hare, a pioneer Chicagoan, died yesterday at her home, 2332 South Michigan avenue, of a stroke of paralysis. She was 71 years old.

With her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoops, she came to Chicago in 1865 and had lived ever since in Michigan avenue.

She was married in old St. Mary's church, East Ninth street and South Wabash avenue, and will be buried from the same church, now conducted by the Paulist Fathers, at 10 o'clock this morning. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

Four brothers and two children—Mrs. John E. Conitha and Joseph Hoops O'Hare—survive. The latter achieved considerable publicity following his marriage with Dorothy Bertrand of the "Follies," a chorus girl. He was known in the loop cabarets as "Bob" O'Hare.

Dorothy was married conservatively of her estate in 1916, when she charged that "he was squandering his fortune by reckless living and excessive indulgence in liquor."

Mrs. O'Hare, by reason of her continuous residence of fifty-four years in Michigan avenue, enjoyed the distinction of being its oldest resident. She was intimate with many pioneer figures in Chicago's history, such as Potter Palmer, the Leiters, David A. Sage, the Walker family, and the Newberys.

A Chicago Woman's Chorus.

An independent singing society of women is planned, "with no other purpose," the bulletin explains, "than to promote choral music and furnish a musical opportunity for many women who have good voices and are not connected with any musical activity, as well as for students and professionals who may be interested in concerted singing." Applications may be made now at the office of the Apollo club, Lyon & Healy building. The first test of voices is dated for July 2, and rehearsals for September.

Florence Ffrench, Singer, to Wed

Mrs. Florence Ffrench, 5850 Harper avenue, makes known the engagement of her daughter, Florence, to Burton Hurlbut Lester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lester, 6200 Kenwood avenue. The wedding is set for July 16. Both announcement of engagement and date of the wedding had been postponed because of the death last autumn of Miss Ffrench's brother, Lieut. Joseph Ffrench, of the United States aviation forces. Her father was the late local leader and prominent in the administration of Chicago's public schools. Her fiancé, who also was in the aviation corps, is now the head of a brokerage house in Casper, Wyo. Miss Ffrench is a singer of note.

Alumni Elect Chicagoan.

Bloomington, Ind., June 10.—Indiana University Alumni association today elected Elmer Raschig, Indianapolis, president; Isaac Neel, Chicago, first vice president; and the commencement address will be delivered tomorrow.

The Successful Home Gardener

BY J. F. H. HEIDE
No. 91.

MISCELLANEOUS.

An interesting bit of misinformation developed at one of the demonstrations. Let it be understood that only the sprays against plant diseases must cover the entire plant, from above and below, to prevent the entry of spores at unprotected spots. Chewing or gnawing insects will be effectively poisoned though the poisonous spray is on only one side of the foliage. In the case of slugs, however, the spray must be on the side of the foliage gnawed—the side on which the slugs appear. Sucking insects, such as the various aphids or plant lice, cannot be eradicated unless the spray provided for them comes in actual contact with them; they are usually on the lower side of foliage and on all young growth.

The annual convention of the American Association of Nurserymen will be held at Hotel Sheraton in Chicago, on June 25 to 27. An interesting program has been arranged for Thursday, June 26, at 9 a. m., consisting of the following lectures:

"The Propagation and Growing of the Rose," by E. G. Hill, Richmond, Ind.

"The Propagation and Growing of Ornamental Stock," by Robert George, Palmyra, O.

"The Growing and Preparation of Evergreens for Landscape Planting," by Charles L. Seybold, forester, department of parks, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"The Nurseryman's Opportunity in Reconstruction," by Dr. A. F. Woods, president Maryland State College of Agriculture, College Park, Md.

Literature Received.

"The Backyard Garden—A handbook for the amateur, the community, and the school," by Edward J. Farrington, 122 pages, semi-flexible board, 191 pp., illustrated; Laird & Lee, Chicago, $1.

"Destroy the Common Barberry," by E. C. Stakumasters, 12 pp., 7 illustrations; F. B. 1658; division of publications, U. S. department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., free.

"Soiling Crops for Milk Production," 59 pp., 5 tables and a bibliography of 35 titles; agricultural experiment station, Ames, Ia., free.

M. E. Fund Goes "Over Top" for U. S.

The Methodist centenary campaign for $105,000,000 went "over the top" yesterday by more than $100,000, according to an announcement made by Dr. John W. Hancher, director of the campaign. Six great areas of the Methodist church have not yet sent in their reports. Dr. Hancher added, as he expressed his belief that the subscription total will go far beyond the original goal.

In the Chicago area $11,526,633 has been subscribed. The goal for the local area is $13,444,653.

Totals on the various areas reporting to date are:

Atlanta...$1,196,000; Pittsburgh...$842,000; Buffalo...$429,000; Portland...2,222,000; Chattanooga...$1,400,000; St. Louis...2,400,000; Chicago...$1,034,000; Washington...6,500,000; Cincinnati...14,801,000; Wichita...4,559,000; Omaha...8,200,000.

Dance Opens Yacht Club.

The Chicago Yacht club formally opened the summer season last night with the first of its regular Tuesday evening dinner dances. More than 300 persons attended.

OBITUARY.

JAMES E. WELSH, GARFIELD SCHOOL PRINCIPAL, DEAD

James Edward Welsh, principal of the Garfield school, died at his home, 2519 Adams street, yesterday afternoon. Born at Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 12, 1857, he was graduated from high school at Dubuque, Ia., in 1875. He taught in Dubuque elementary and high schools, 1875 to 1881, and was principal of elementary schools in Dubuque for twenty-three years, 1881 to 1904. He was elected principal of Garfield school, Chicago, in June, 1904, and was transferred in October, 1905, to the Garfield school, where he has since been principal.

He is survived by his wife, Mary R., and three children—Walter F., Edward M., and Loras J. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning from Our Lady of Sorrows church. Burial will be in Dubuque.

DR. CLARENCE F. BARKER, for twenty years a member of the faculty of Hahnemann Medical college, died in Milwaukee on Saturday from shock due to an operation, the amputation of a leg, following diabetic gangrene. Dr. Barker had practiced medicine in Chicago for the last thirty-five years at 3942 Ellis avenue. His acquaintance throughout the south side was extensive. His widow survives him.

Packers purchased hogs freely at 50¢ advance in prices. Shipping orders were small, while speculators operated freely. Trade closed at high time of the day, with a late top of $20.30, standing 15¢ higher than Monday. Armour houses bought freely from the start, their prices costing $19.95. The Aggar Packing company secured 2,500 selected 200 pound butchers for foreign trade at $20.20. Prevailing prices for hogs stand 25¢ higher than last week's close, with the tendency still higher. The day's average price at $20.03 was highest since last Wednesday, standing 21¢ lower than previous Tuesday, against $18.48 a year ago and $15.10 two years ago. Chicago's hog receipts at 35,000 were 10,000 short of expectations and 17,600 smaller than a week ago. Eleven markets received 127,000, against 170,000 previous Tuesday and 125,000 a year ago. For 1919 to date receipts at eleven points turned the 16,000,000 mark, being largest on record for a like period, compared with previous years, 12,000,000 more than a year ago, and 1,311,000 more than the eight year average of corresponding period since 1910.

Late Cattle Trade Lower.
Cattle receipts at 15,000 proved quite moderate following the light supply of the previous day. However, a very uneven trade was the result. Packers held back because of the extra weight carried by cattle which "filled" heavily. After starting steady, steers declined mostly 25¢ and closed very dull. Butcher stock sold 15¢ higher during the early hour, but lost the advance later under pressure of packer buyers. Steer top was $15.25, two lots making the price, while over 100 head sold at $14.00 to $15.15. Bulk went around $12.25 to $14.25. Bulk of cows and heifers sold around $12.75 to $14.25. Calves advanced 25¢ to $10.00, outsiders paying up to $11.00 for a few selected lots. Bulk of offerings went at $10.00 to $11.50.

Sheep Prices Strong.
Despite the fact that sheep receipts totaled 17,000 and only $90 of the number were direct to packers, the market displayed fair action, with prices rising to 25¢ higher than Monday. Choice native spring lambs sold at $15.00. Shorn lambs topped at $14.75. Eastern markets for dressed lambs have improved but the call for weighty carcasses, such as those from aged sheep, remains small, which has caused a wider spread in prices between the aged sheep and the lamb offerings.

Receipts for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 22,000 hogs, and 13,000 sheep, against 7,001 cattle, 18,500 hogs, and 14,129 sheep corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

PROXIES ASKED TO STOP SALES OF I. M. M. SHIPS

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—Opposition to the proposed sale of British tonnage owned by the International Mercantile Marine company was announced today by John W. Platten, president of the United States Mortgage and Trust company, and Frederick W. Scott, who have formed a proxy committee, in a circular to Mercantile Marine shareholders, in which they ask for proxies to vote against the proposed deal. Some Mr. Scott and Mr. Platten resigned last week from the special proxy committee, chosen by the directors of the company, in making public the circular. Mr. Platten said:

"Opposition to the sale by the International Mercantile Marine company of its British tonnage registered today in the name of Mr. Frederick W. Scott and myself to act as a proxy committee for shareholders who desire to prevent the sale. In addition to the proxy of the American International corporation, the largest stockholder, this committee is already assured of the support of other stockholders, who have indicated their intention to give us their proxies."

"We are hopeful and confident that sufficient proxies will be received before the special meeting on Monday, June 16, to defeat the sale. It is essential, however, that every shareholder of the company should send his proxy to our committee."

AMERICA PLANS TO FIX SILVER PRICE IN FUTURE

New York, June 10.—[Special.]—An endeavor to control the world price of oil is the objective behind plans for formation of a formation of a silver export company by the three largest producers of metal in this country, the Anaconda per Mining company, the American elting and Refining company, and

United States Smelting and Refining Company. More than half the world's supply of silver is produced in this country but for more than thirty years the price has been regulated by an arbitrary ing of values by a committee of three, "silver triumvirate," which held a meeting in London. The prices which this committee set ruled in all the world markets.

American producers feel that in the past they have not received a price which was warranted for silver, England making the price for the metal low so that there would be a profit in the sale of rupees for India.

is to correct this condition that the export company is being seriously hindered. A representative of one of the companies said today the plan has been perfected as there are some or conflicting viewpoints, but all the companies agree that some step must be taken to check the domination of the market by the English commit-

Collier's

THE NATIONAL WEEKLY

Peter Fenelon Collier —American Citizen!

EMERSON said, "Every business institution is the lengthened shadow of a man." Certainly that is so of Collier's Weekly—the lengthened shadow of Peter Fenelon Collier.

Peter Fenelon Collier might have figured as the hero of an Alger book. He came to this country a penniless lad. By dint of rare pluck and persistence he worked his way to the top.

He was a manly boy and a boyish man. He worked hard and played hard. He did nothing by halves. His heart was always in the game.

He made friends by being one. He won golden opinions from all sorts of people.

Though not college trained, Peter Fenelon Collier was remarkably well read. He gloried in the treasures stored up in books, and he had the satisfaction of printing more good books than any other man of his generation.

Something else Peter Fenelon Collier did. He founded a publication which has, as one contemporary puts it, represented "all that is square and valiant in the citizenship of the republic."

It is peculiarly fitting that Collier's Weekly should trace its pedigree to Peter Fenelon Collier. Collier's stands for the things that Peter Fenelon Collier stood for.

It has sturdy convictions on topics of interest to Americans. But before it speaks its convictions, it finds out the facts, in order that it may speak with authority.

For Collier's is "undisguisedly American in its outlook on world affairs—"a mouthpiece of the highest type of American citizenship," as one American newspaper has expressed it.

In these strenuous days, when it means so much to be an American, Collier's Weekly is practically indispensable to men and women who value constructive thinking as a means of arriving at valid conclusions.

Has there, indeed, ever been a time when sane, clean-cut, constructive thought on national questions was more vital to the rank and file of American citizenship, than it is today?

FEATURES IN THE JUNE 14th ISSUE

"The Crime of Partition"

Joseph Conrad interprets the national spirit which has kept Poland alive through centuries of persecution.

"Great Britain Faces the Future"

Richard Washburn Child outlines the radical steps Great Britain is taking in its work of reconstruction. Mr. Child went to England as a guest of the British Government, to study reconstruction problems at first hand.

"The Eclipse Handicap"

Frank Condon tells another story of his unfortunate trio, Harmony, George and Omar Gill.

"Lotus Salad"

One of Signor Pug's adventures in Magella, as related by Mildred Cram.

"Blinks"

The remarkable training the men blinded in war are receiving. One of a series of authentic war articles by Samuel Hopkins Adams.

Also in this issue

"Be a Boy Scout!" by William Almon Wolf; "Russia's Rough Riders—The Cossacks," by Nikolai P. Zarokilli; Editorials; Photographic Pages, etc.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—The senatorial relations of the only "Wall Street" peace treaty so far furnished by one of the chief advisers in the delegation in Paris. The copy of the treaty was permitted to the possession of the Root of New York committee the day after it was received by Henry P. & Co. Davidson. It was obtained from the other Morgan representative of the movement in Paris and the American peace.

Evidence Disapp

Although this is the source of the Senator Hitchcock's "noticeably" of the Democratic investigation, the interview Mr. Root as soon as he tried.

Mr. Davidson explained a copy of the treaty to the interest in the peace, arising from the chairman of the Cross league and membership in the its "wide financial" and "industrial" countries. Thereupon Mr. Root upon a description of a gigantic plan of a gigantic plan of a country to extend its scope on its feet as an appointment to before the bankers' mates in Chicago.
